RUSSIANS CONTINUE TO CRUSH THE ENEMY

GENERAL HAIG'S MEN HAVE DRIVEN ON TO EDGE OF GUILLEMONT

Pressed Forward East of Trones Wood, North of Somme, Last Night;
London Announces

London, Aug. 8.—British troops pushed forward their lines at points east of the Trones Wood, north of the Somme, last night, the war office announced to-day. Fighting is in progress in the outskirts of the village of Guillemont, near the railway station.

The text of the statement follows: "The enemy, after his first fruitless attempts yesterday north and east of Pozieres, north of the Somme, has not made any fresh infantry attacks, but is maintaining a heavy artillery bombardment on this front and on other portions of the battle area.

"Last night our troops pushed forward in places east of the Trones wood, and fighting in the outskirts of Guillemont, near the station, is proceeding. On the eastern portion of the Leipzig salient the enemy attempted a bomb attack on our lines, but was driven back without difficulty.

A Raid.
"North of Roiselcourt two of our raiding parties successfully entered the German lines and blew up some dugouts.

"An enemy squadron of ten aeroplanes endeavored to cross our lines yesterday on a bombing expedition. They were cut off by one of our offensive patrols of four machines. The enemy's machines scattered, returning precipitately, pursued by our patrols. Two of the hostile aeroplanes had to make forced descents behind their own lines."

BERLIN PAPER SAYS BREMEN WENT DOWN

Failure of the Machinery of Deutschland's Sister Given as Cause

Berlin, Aug. 8.—According to a report received here to-day, the Berliner Tageblatt prints a dispatch saying that the German submarine Bremen sank as a result of "some accident to her machinery."

Portland, Maine, Aug. 8.—No further traces had been reported early to-day of the two vessels believed by the coastguard lookout who sighted them to be submarines, which appeared off the Maine coast near Machiasport yesterday. Cross Island, where the lookout was stationed, is at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy and close to Canadian territorial waters off the province of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The possibility that one of the vessels might have been the German merchant submarine Bremen, long ago reported to have left a German port for the United States, aroused much interest and resulted in a close watch along the coasts of Maine and Massachusetts throughout yesterday and last night. The Cross Island lookout estimated the speed of the boats at 12 knots. At any rate, keeping close to the three-mile limit, they would have had time to reach this port early to-day. To reach Boston, following a similar course, would require eight or ten hours longer.

RUSSIANS ATTACKING WEST OF ERZINGJAN, CONSTANTINOPLE SAYS

London, Aug. 8.—The Russians have renewed their attacks west of Erzingjan, on the Caucasus front. An official Turkish statement received here to-day, dated August 5, says the Russians gained a footing in the Turkish lines, but were driven out after heavy fighting.

GAIN BY FRENCH NORTH OF SOMME

Made Advance East of Hill 139 While British Were Attacking Guillemont

GERMANS GOT Foothold IN THE THIAUMONT WORK

Paris, Aug. 8.—French troops made an advance last night east of Hill 139, north of the Somme, and took 40 prisoners. The attack was made by infantry operating on the right of the British while the latter made an attack on Guillemont.

An official statement issued this afternoon also states that two attempts by German troops to recapture trenches east of the Monacu farm, north of the Somme, were defeated.

"The Germans early this morning launched a series of powerful attacks on French positions from the village of Fleury to a point north of the Thiaumont work, east of the Meuse. They obtained a footing in the Thiaumont work, where fighting still was in progress when the statement was issued. The attacks on Fleury were checked.

Made Advance.
The text of the announcement follows:

"North of the Somme our infantry operating on the right of the British, in the course of an attack by our allies on Guillemont, made an advance east of Hill 139, north of Hardecourt, and took 40 prisoners.

"East of the Monacu farm the Germans made two attempts this morning to recapture trenches which we had taken yesterday. Both attempts were repulsed by our infantry fire. The enemy was compelled to fall back, leaving a number of dead before our lines. The number of unwounded prisoners taken in that region is 23, of whom two are officers.

East of Meuse.
"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) the bombardment was resumed during the night with extreme violence on the Thiaumont-Fleury front. At about 5 o'clock this morning the Germans delivered a series of powerful attacks with heavy forces against our positions from the village of Fleury to a point north of the Thiaumont work, accompanied by a curtain of fire. All the attacks were checked along the Fleury road and in the village by the fire of our machine guns, which caused large losses to the enemy. The Germans succeeded in gaining a footing in the Thiaumont work after a desperate encounter, which still is continuing at this hour.

"In the Vosges detachments of the enemy which attempted to approach our trenches near Senones were dispersed easily by our fire."

ITALIAN GAIN LONG STEP IN ADVANCE

Italy Knows What Importance Attaches to Capture of 3,600 Prisoners

Rome, Aug. 8.—The announcement by the war office of the Italian victory in the Monfalcone sector was received everywhere in Italy with rejoicing, although the war is being directed with such secrecy that the public at large knows little about it. In view of the difficult nature of the ground and the exceptionally favorable positions held by the Austrians, the taking of 3,600 prisoners is regarded as a long step in advance.

The troops which so distinguished themselves are from Leghorn and Turin. They carried out an enveloping movement which made possible the gathering in of prisoners in large numbers.

RUSSIANS IN POSITION TO CAPTURE STANISLAU

The above map will enable the reader to judge of the importance of the great gain just made by the Russian forces south of the Dniester in Galicia. The town of Tlumach, now in the hands of the Russians, is about 13 miles east of Stanislaw and Tysmienica. In the direction of which the Russian forces carried out their drive, is only some six or seven miles east of Stanislaw. Thus the Russians are almost knocking at the gates of the important centre of Stanislaw. The relation of that point to Stry, Lemberg and Przemyśl (Pernysl) may be judged from the map.

Russian cavalry now is pursuing the enemy southwest of the Kolomea-Stanislaw railway, a line about 35 miles in length.

ROUMANIA ONLY AWAITS WORD FROM ENTENTE; BULGARIA IS EXPECTED TO BREAK AWAY FROM TEUTONIC ALLIES

Roumania Ready With 450,-
000, Russia Having Offered
Bessarabia; Bulgarian War
Office Has Ignored King
Ferdinand

Providence, R.I., Aug. 8.—The Providence Journal publishes the following London cable this morning:

"In the constant daily struggle on both the eastern and western fronts the Balkan situation apparently has been overlooked, although it is to-day the one element in the war which is engaging the vital and hourly attention of the ministries of Great Britain and every other belligerent country of Europe. The following statement is the essential part of a declaration made to me yesterday by a prominent official of the British war office:

Bulgaria Swinging

"There is now collected in and about the district of Salonica a splendidly equipped army of 500,000 British, French and Serbian troops. Fully 80 per cent. of the troops are seasoned veterans. There have been many alleged explanations of the reason why this large and powerful fighting force has not taken part in the combined drive that has been in progress along the various fronts continuously for the past month. The reason is that Great Britain and France want to make no move that will bring them into a clash with Bulgarian troops at this time. It is very possible, indeed, that within the next few weeks Bulgaria will shift her allegiance and declare her affiliation with Russia or withdrawal from the Teutonic alliance.

"This vitally important fact, and the exact knowledge now held by the British government that Roumania is heart and soul with the entente powers and will come in at the moment they give the word, are the two outstanding developments of to-day which are causing more concern to all the fighting powers than the present military moves.

Ferdinand Ignored.
"Bulgarian troops, so far as can be ascertained, have been withdrawn from every line where they have been fighting alongside their Teutonic allies. The orders for these withdrawals are declared to have come from the war office at Sofia without any attempt to confer with King Ferdinand in advance.

"The elimination of M. Sazonoff from the Russian government (he was foreign minister) has taken away the last barrier to Roumania's decision to join the entente. It is understood on authority which I am not able to quote, but which is indisputable, that the entire territory of Bessarabia, from Leova, at the Roumanian border, east to the mouth of the Dniester, on the Black Sea coast, and along 60 miles of the Black Sea coast, has been taken back to the mouth of the Danube.

on the Roumanian border, is to be ceded by Russia to Roumania, and that Roumania at once will place 450,000 troops fully equipped at the service of the allies for operations either against Bulgaria or in conjunction with Bulgaria if the latter comes in.

Ferdinand Away.
"The great mass of the Bulgarian people, never in favor of the break with Russia, apparently at last have made themselves heard to some purpose. King Ferdinand has been away from his capital since June 5 and is either in Berlin or in the train of the German kaiser. Official advice from British agents in Sofia declares that Ferdinand will not return to that city until the close of the war, and that he is fully convinced that his people will join hands with Russia in the near future.

"This condition is being rapidly brought to a head by the attitude of Roumania, and also by the tremendous effect of the recent German and Austrian defeats, and the unlooked for and rapid advance of the Russian troops."

3,731 JOINED LAST TWO WEEKS OF JULY

When Harvest Ceases to Interfere Enrollment Will Rise Again

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—The July record for recruiting was the poorest since the war began. Figures for the fortnight between July 15 and 31 show a total enlistment of 3,731. The falling off is accounted for by farming operations being at their height, together with the great demand for laborers of all classes. Once the harvest is over the enrollment is expected to be normal again.

The aggregate enlistments since the war began are 354,424, and of these 146,246 were recruited in the present year.

A SMASHING VICTORY WON BY RUSSIANS ALONG A FRONT OF FIFTEEN MILES IN GALICIA

Gorizia Bridgehead Taken By Italians; 8,000 Men Captured

Rome, Aug. 8.—The war office to-day announced the capture of the Gorizia bridgehead by Italian troops. It is said the city is being shelled to drive out the Austrians. More than 8,000 prisoners were taken on August 6.

BRITISH SIX MILES EAST OF KATIA NOW

Mounted Troops Pressing
Turks Thirty Miles East of Suez Canal

RIFLES AND SUPPLIES CAPTURED AT RUMAN

London, Aug. 8.—British troops, pursuing the Turkish forces defeated last week at Ruman, on the Sinai peninsula, have caught up with the Turkish rear guard six miles east of Katia, about 30 miles east of the Suez canal, says an official statement regarding the campaign on the Sinai peninsula issued to-day.

Quantities of war material are being gathered in by the British troops from the Ruman battlefield.

The text of the statement follows: "The commander-in-chief in Egypt reports at 10.50 p.m. that his mounted troops are in contact with the Turkish rear guard at a position six miles east of Katia, where the enemy entrenched some days ago at the beginning of his advance.

"The work of clearing the battlefield is proceeding and a quantity of rifles and other war material has been brought in. Up to the time of this report 200 of the enemy's dead have been buried in the area over which the counter-attack passed on August 4.

"A bomb attack by aeroplanes over Port Said and the Suez canal inflicted little material damage and caused slight casualties."

GREAT BLOWS COMING, OPINION AT ROME

Believed Entente Forces Prepared for Heavier Attacks;
Italians' Successes

Paris, Aug. 8.—"The conviction is general here," the Havan correspondent at Rome wires, "that the allies are at the beginning of a vast offensive, the results of which are certain, although they may be slow."

Italians Driving.

London, Aug. 8.—The Italian offensive along the Isonzo and on the Carso plateau is being continued, and according to a wireless dispatch from Rome, a number of additional positions have been occupied. The Austrians hold little ground on the right bank of the Isonzo.

The dispatch reports that the number of prisoners taken by the Italians has been increased considerably and that the Austrians now are destroying villages in the vicinity of Gorizia.

South of Dniester Austro-Germans Hurlled Back; Czar's Troops Nearer Stanislaw Now; Town of Tlumach Taken; In Two Days Russians Captured 8,581 Prisoners South of Brody

Petrograd, Aug. 8.—South of the Dniester River in Galicia, in the direction of Tysmienica, Russian forces have driven the Austro-German forces back along a front of fifteen miles, it was announced by the war office to-day.

The announcement adds that the Russians have captured the town of Tlumach, as well as the region to the east of the Dniester river and the ridge of heights there.

Russian cavalry now is pursuing the Austro-Germans southwest of the Kolomea-Stanislaw railway.

The total number of prisoners taken by the Russians in the battles on the Sereth river on August 5 and August 6 was 166 officers and 8,415 men. The Russian forces in that region are advancing.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE PRAISES CANADIANS

Deeply Moved When Reviewing Division in Company
With Hughes

London, Aug. 8.—(By F. A. McKenzie).—"I have no words adequate to express my admiration for the splendid appearance of the Canadians," said Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George to Maj.-General Sir Sam Hughes after he had finished his review of a division yesterday. It was, significantly enough, Mr. Lloyd George's first public military ceremony since his appointment as minister of war. He spoke with good reason, for the division surprised even those who knew it well.

Its formation, equipment and perfection in details were worthy of comparison with the old regular armies. The men's physique surprised everybody. The Highlanders and Grenadiers, seemed like long lines of giants. I last saw this division when the king reviewed it. The improvement since then is immense and it stands to-day ready for the field. It will take its place on the fighting line more perfectly equipped than any before it. The men make no secret of their intention to break all records.

Brig-Gen. Odium.
Brig-Gen. Odium's first appearance as a brigadier-general aroused special interest, for his fame as a modern soldier, already has reached far beyond the Canadian lines. Old professional soldiers of the continental armies are watching him with the same interest that the leaders of the British army watched General Turner during the Boer war.

Mr. Lloyd George's speech at the close of the review, delivered to a semi-circle of officers, gathered around his motor car, was the most remarkable oration ever uttered by a British war minister to combatant ranks. The war minister was moved by intense feelings. Profoundly religious, the address deeply moved every hearer. It also was instinct with the sense of victory.

Brig-Gen. V. W. Odium, D. S. O., of Vancouver, has made history in the great European conflict. It was he who, when he saw that months and months of trench warfare were inevitable, conceived the idea of bombing the enemy and inflicting damage by night trench raids. To what proportions this mode of warfare grew is common knowledge and possibly without it the allies might have been farther south than they were when the big drive started, for the success of the Canadian lieutenant-colonel's bombing spread like wildfire along the French front, with the result that a party of officers representing the French general staff came to the trenches occupied by Lieut.-Col. Odium's men, and after witnessing the work of his bombers, immediately recognized the worth of this method of fighting, and its adoption became general along all the allied fronts.

BRITISH ARE FIRING $10,000,000 EACH DAY

Lord Northcliffe Writes of German Underground Passages on Somme Front

London, Aug. 8.—Lord Northcliffe writes:

"In the preliminary bombardment preceding the beginning of the battle of the Somme on July 1, $5,000,000 worth of shells were fired by the British alone. The British are firing away money at the rate of $10,000,000 daily. The artillery never ceases against subterranean German fortresses, one of which I lately explored. These are a tribute not only to the intense industry of the Germans, but also to the irresistible superiority of the British and French troops."

"It is hoped that some of these underground-labyrinths will be preserved so that future generations may realize what this kind of warfare is like. One of the underground fortresses captured from the Germans is large enough to contain comfortably 2,000 men with supplies."

RAILWAY SITUATION IN U. S.

London, Aug. 8.—Armed with a practically unanimous vote from 600,000 railroad trainmen, heads of the four employees' brotherhoods met railroad managers to-day to demand again an eight-hour day. The alternative would be a nation-wide strike, tying up every freight and passenger train in the United States.

RUSSIAN GAINS IN VOLHYNIA, GALICIA

Trenches Taken on Stockhod Front; Prisoners Captured Near the Sereth

Petrograd, Aug. 8.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"On the Stockhod, in the region of Zareche, our troops delivered an assault and without firing a single shot drove the enemy out of a section of his trenches, which we occupied. We captured 12 officers and 200 men and one machine gun."

"Our successes also developed further in the northern sector of the territory we captured on the Sereth. On Sunday we captured in this region 13 officers and 3,000 men, some of them Germans; also two howitzers and several machine guns. The fighting was very fierce. A great number of wounded Austro-German prisoners are arriving."

"Caucasus front—Under pressure of the Turks our troops in Persia have retired to the region east of Kerman-shah."

London, Aug. 8.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says:

"Their successes to the south of Brody bring the Russians within 14 miles of the Tarnopol-Lemberg railway. It is reported that the Austrian forces at Tarnopol already are retiring in the direction of Ziochoff."

SURPRISED GERMANS IN POZIERES REGION

British and Australian Troops Carried Out Advance With Rapidity

Paris, Aug. 8.—A dispatch to La Liberte, dated at a point in the north of France, says:

"The latest British advance north of Pozieres was the result of a brilliant offensive begun on the night of August 4-5 after an artillery preparation of great efficacy. Since the Australians captured Pozieres the enemy had ceased his furious counter-attacks against the village, in the outskirts of which he had succeeded in keeping his ground."

"The British commander decided on Friday to clear the village by taking the principal support of the second line of the German defence, made up of a series of small works extending from the Bapaume road to that of Thiepval, on a front of about three kilometres."

Without a blow, "The bombardment began about day-break and continued unceasingly until night. It destroyed the defences, levelled entrenchments and rendered shelters uninhabitable. At 11 o'clock at night the work of the artillery having been finished, the order to attack was given. While the Surrey and Kent troops pushed forward against the positions on the Bapaume road, which were taken in less than half an hour, the Australians, with the Sussex regiments on their left, captured without striking a blow, six lines of trenches northwest of Pozieres. They carried a large work situated at the intersection of the Thiepval and Moquet roads and continued their progress east of the Leipzig road in the direction of Thiepval."

"The operation, in the opinion of observers, was one of the most brilliant since the beginning of the offensive in the Somme region and was carried out with rapidity, which was aided by the fire of the British batteries. The British troops advanced through trenches which had been completely destroyed, the machine guns and defenders having been buried, and at certain points not the slightest resistance was encountered."

Taken by surprise, "The Germans, moreover, seemed to have been taken by surprise by this attack, on which they evidently had not counted at so early a date. Decided hesitation was observed in the decisions of the German commander, which resulted in delaying the bringing up of considerable reinforcements. It was more than four hours after the British had attained their objective before counter-attacks took place, and these were easily repulsed."

GT. BRITAIN, RUSSIA AND PERSIA REACH FULL UNDERSTANDING

Petrograd, Aug. 8.—Great Britain and Russia have just concluded an understanding with Persia, strengthening the friendly relations between the three countries, according to a dispatch to the semi-official Russian news agency from Tcheran.

"The ministers of Russia, Great Britain and Persia," says the correspondent, "yesterday exchanged notes, bringing to a conclusion negotiations which had been in progress between the three countries, creating an entente which definitely strengthens the friendly relations between Britain, Russia and Persia."

"A solution mutually favorable to all the parties has been found for questions relating to the financial and military organization of Persia. As regards the military organization, it will be effected in North Persia by the development of a Persian brigade and in South Persia by the formation of sufficiently strong contingents."

FRENCH GOT TRENCHES NORTH OF THE SOMME

Made Progress East of the Meuse; British Troops Repulsed Attacks

Paris, Aug. 8.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"North of the Somme, at the end of the afternoon, our troops carried a line of German trenches between Hemwood and the river, east of the Monacu farm. One hundred and twenty prisoners and about ten machine guns remained in our hands."

"South of the Somme our artillery was very active. Enemy batteries in the region of Lihons were effectively shelled."

"On the right bank of the Meuse, in the course of a small action, we made progress south of the Thiaumont work. We took five machine guns and found in the conquered trenches numerous German dead."

"After a somewhat spirited engagement we captured some houses in the western part of the village of Fleury. Our lines in the region of Vaux, Chapfrie and Chenois were subjected to a bombardment."

A Belgian communication said: "Throughout the night and day the artillery was active, especially in the direction of Dixmude and Steenstraete. At Steenstraete an engagement with bombs occurred, which ended in our advantage."

British Report.

London, Aug. 8.—The following official report was issued last night:

"North and northeast of Pozieres, north of the Somme, the enemy delivered two determined attacks on our new lines between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning. After a heavy bombardment he entered our trenches at one or two points, but was driven out again, leaving many men in casualties and losing some prisoners in our hands."

"Two more strong attacks were made at 8.30 in the morning, with exactly similar results. Soon after 1 o'clock in the afternoon another feeble attack was repulsed, and more prisoners were taken."

"In front of Souchez the enemy exploded a mine, and a few minutes later some of his troops entered our trenches over the crater. They were immediately bombed out again."

"At Zwartelen the enemy sprang another small mine, without effect."

"The enemy artillery has been active near Bethune, La Bassée canal and Loos. The result in casualties and damage is negligible. Our batteries retaliated vigorously."

LLOYD GEORGE'S BILL FOR MILITARY COURTS

Minister Says Certain Officials of War Office Desire Inquiry

London, Aug. 8.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, secretary of war, in the House of Commons yesterday moved the second reading of the bill to give civilians the right to appear before military tribunals as witnesses and also to provide that in cases where civilians are implicated the court may be composed of civilians as well as officers. He explained that the civilian members of the courts would be members of parliament and added that the bill was due to the late Sir Arthur Basil Markham, member of parliament, who had brought certain matters to his notice.

This is the bill which has given rise to rumors of a coming trial of a high official of the war office. Mr. Lloyd George mentioned no names, but said that all of the officers concerned courted the fullest inquiry and desired that whatever court was set up should proceed with an investigation without loss of time.

Knee Joint Stiff Three Years

CURED BY NERVILINE

Anyone would marvel at my recovery, writes Mr. Leonard Lotham, a young man well known about Chatham. I had inherited rheumatic tendency through my mother's family, and in my early days suffered frightfully. About three years ago, the pain and stiffness settled in my left knee joint. I was lame and walked with a very distinct limp. Nerviline was brought to my notice and I rubbed it into the stiff joint four or five times a day. It dispelled every vestige of pain, reduced the swelling, took out the stiffness and gave me the full use of my limb again. I don't believe there is a pain-remedy, not a single liniment that can compare with Nerviline. I hope every person with pains, with sore back, with lameness, with lumbago, with neuralgia—I do hope they will try out Nerviline which I am convinced will quickly and permanently cure them."

If Nerviline wasn't a wonderful painless remedy, if Nerviline didn't quickly relieve, if Nerviline wasn't known to be a grand cure for all rheumatic conditions, it wouldn't have been so largely used as a family remedy for the past forty years. No better, stronger, or more soothing liniment made. Get the large 50c family size bottle; small trial size 25c; sold by any dealer, anywhere.

ADMIRAL KAMIMURA, OF JAPAN, IS DEAD

Tokio, Aug. 8.—Vice-Admiral Baron Hikomoko Kamimura, of the Japanese navy, is dead.

Vice-Admiral Kamimura, who was 67 years old, was one of the most prominent officers in the Japanese navy. As commander-in-chief of the second squadron, he played an important part in the Russo-Japanese war, and is believed to have participated in the naval assault with the British squadron against the German base at Tsingtau, China, in 1914.

In August, 1906, the squadron of Admiral Kamimura defeated the Russian warships Rurik, Gromobol and Rossia off the coast of Korea, sinking the Rurik and capturing the other two badly damaged. Prior to this Admiral Kamimura had been unpopular because of the Rurik, which, with the Gromobol and Rossia, composed the Vladivostok squadron, had destroyed two transports loaded with Japanese troops. His victory redeemed his reputation with the masses in Japan, and his reputation was further enhanced later when his squadron took a leading part in the battle of the Sea of Japan, when Russia's naval power was destroyed. After this battle he was awarded the title of baron and invested with the Grand

EVICION IS URGED TO FEED GERMANY

German Paper Thinks Germans Should Eat All From Occupied Areas

London, Aug. 8.—The Rheinisch Westfälische Zeitung has discovered a solution of the German food problem. It argues from statistics it has unearthed that the enemy territories occupied by the German armies produce seven times the quantity of wheat and rye necessary to supply the whole population of Germany.

If such inhabitants of these territories as are useless to the conquerors be evicted, it says, Germany's grain requirements would be assured, while at the same time by forcing these people to take refuge with their friends strong pressure would be exerted on the latter and perhaps cause them to succumb, as it would be difficult to house and feed the refugees.

The Zeitung declares it is absolutely preposterous that useless enemy subjects be allowed to continue to eat their fill within the German lines.

ITALIAN SHIP AND NORWEGIAN S. S. SUNK

London, Aug. 8.—Lloyds' announces that the Italian sailing vessel Eugenia and the Norwegian steamship Aranda have been sunk.

A report that the British steamship Spiral has been sunk, says the agency, is unconfirmed.

"Why," asks a Missouri paper, "does Missouri stand at the head in raising mules?" "Because," said another paper, "that is the only safe place to stand."

ITALIANS TOOK HILL NEAR MONFALCONE

Several Lines of Trenches in Lower Isonzo Region
Captured

Rome, Aug. 8.—The following official statement was issued last evening:

"Between the Adige and the Upper Isonzo artillery activity continues. On the Sette Comuni plateau the enemy exploded several mines, destroying one of our trenches on the slopes of Monte Zebio, and then delivered attacks, which were checked completely by our artillery."

"In the Tofano region our troops captured strong enemy positions commanding communication by the Transvenetian valley and the Sarre torrent in the Cadoro valley. The enemy continued to shell villages in the upper Dogana valley, and we retaliated by bombarding the military buildings at Tarvis, Tabb, and Tolmino."

"On the lower Isonzo our troops began yesterday an attack on some strong enemy positions, while in the Monfalcone sector our offensive, which began on August 4, made progress toward Hills 85 and 121. After effective preparation by artillery and trench mortars, our troops carried several lines of the enemy's entrenchments. In the Monfalcone area, after fierce hand-to-hand fighting, our troops took and held against several violent counter attacks, nearly the whole of Hill 85. "During yesterday's fighting we took 3,600 prisoners, including 100 officers, one of whom was a regimental commander and one a staff major, a battery of three guns, several dozen machine guns, numerous rifles and much ammunition."

"A squadron of our aeroplanes bombarded the junction at Opelina (north-east of Trieste) under unfavorable weather conditions and forced back enemy machines, one of which was brought down. One of our aeroplanes failed to return."

PLANTS PROTECTED AT NIAGARA FALLS

Govt. Does Not Intend Plotters
Will Blow Up Power
Stations

Niagara Falls, Aug. 8.—A force of men is at work to-day on barbed wire entanglements designed to protect the waterpower works in Queen Victoria park from possible attack by agents of the powers at war with Great Britain. The barrier will shut off a considerable part of the park and will interfere with tourist travel. It is said that the barbed wire will be charged with electricity at night.

The entanglement is similar to those protecting trenches at the battlefield. A large number of munitions plants depend on the power plants here for motive power.

A WINNIPEG JUROR REBUKED BY JUDGE

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—An unnamed member of the jury which is trying the provincial ex-ministers was rebuked by Mr. Justice Pendergast yesterday for an act which the judge considered a "breach of duty." It was deduced from the judge's comment that a jurymen had evaded the custody of the constables in charge of the twelve men and had posted a letter without having submitted it to the inspection which is given all mail to or from a jury.

The judge spoke of the "very strange manner" in which the juror had acted, and said the court could not countenance any juror "running across the street to mail a letter." He added that at a later period the jurymen would be "severely punished" if he could not give a "proper explanation," and spoke of the duty owing by the jury to the state, emphasizing that the jurors were kept in custody to prevent improper communication with outsiders.

V. W. Horwood told of some of the contracts for extras granted to Contractor Kelly. He testified that so far as he knew Sir Rodmond Roblin had had no knowledge of "what was going on" between the witness and Dr. R. M. Simpson.

GUSTAVE HERVE'S REFORMED EUROPE

Patriotic French Socialist Says
Germany Must Be Soundly Beaten

London, Aug. 8.—A correspondent sends the following from Paris:

While the armies of the allied nations are doing their utmost to complete as speedily as possible the destruction of the military might of the central powers, politicians and publicists in Paris are thinking of the peace conditions which will put an end to militarism in Europe in future. And among the men who are endeavoring to invoke visions of peace—a peace that shall be lasting—none has applied himself to the business with more wholehearted sincerity than M. Gustave Herve, who was an anti-militarist long before the war, suffering imprisonment for his opinions, and is now one of the most vigorous champions in France of the allied cause.

M. Herve gave me a cordial welcome when I called at his flat in the Rue Vaugirard. You are not five minutes in his company before you are made aware of his tremendous enthusiasm for the cause he stands for—the consolidation of democracy on an international basis. There are people here who will tell you that Herve has changed his views—that he is no longer a man of peace, but a fire-eater of the most dangerous kind. To believe this would be to do him a great injustice. Herve has not changed his views. He retains his old hatred of war. His devastation of militarism is as great as ever. But he found that an obstacle militated against the realization of his ideal. That obstacle was German militarism. It has to be crushed; and it is enough for him that the nations who set out to crush it are doing their work for the sake of the future peace of Europe.

Three Conditions. For nearly an hour Herve talked about what he considered should be the conditions of a lasting peace. A defeated Germany he put as the first condition. And by a defeated Germany he meant that that country should be so soundly beaten that there would be no use for war lords in the future. Even if new war lords arose the will of the people would prevail against them; for he believes that as a result of this war there will be a mighty change in the relations of the German people with those who in the past have thought and acted for them with or without their consent.

His second condition is that the sovereignty of the people shall become an accomplished fact. By this he means that Europe shall be restored on a basis of nationality, and that there shall be complete emancipation of oppressed peoples. He points to the example of the British empire in the matter of granting self-government. What has happened in the case of Canada, Australasia, and particularly South Africa should not, he thinks, be impossible in the case of those oppressed peoples, for example who have to bend the knee to Austria. "They must be raised up," he said, "just as you raised the Dutch-speaking people in South Africa."

Police of Europe. M. Herve's third condition of a lasting peace is the organization of the police and justice in Europe on international lines. He believes that if Europe was constituted equitably federation would follow. And he is firm in the belief that federation would make war impossible. Though he writes vigorously against Germany almost every day, he is no party to a campaign of revenge directed against that country. Nor is he in favor of breaking up the German empire. To do this would be to nullify his first condition of a lasting peace, since he argues that Prussians, Bavarians, Saxons and Wurttembergers all share the same nationality.

In putting forward his conditions of peace M. Herve did not give me the impression that he is a dreamer. The sincerity, the passionate earnestness of the man is shown in every word he utters. "A new era is about to dawn," he declared, "and it is for us to grasp its significance. There must be no more social war, but victory all the time—victory of industry, commerce, the arts, justice, humanity." And by way of backing up his notion of the form the new era should take—he informed me that he does not propose after the war to revert to the old title of his paper, La Guerre Sociale. It will be called La Victoire as long as it exists.

For Soldiers. Thousands of French soldiers have every reason to be grateful to Herve and his paper. He took up the case of the soldiers whose homes are in the invaded departments and who had few friends to provide them with those comforts which mean so much to them and collected 100,000 francs. Through La Victoire these soldiers receive pipes and tobacco and other little luxuries. Not a day elapses in which M. Herve does not supply a number of poems with things which add to their happiness.

BREWSTER SPOKE AT BARKERVILLE, STANLEY

He and Macdonald Found Discontent With Mining Laws There

Barkerville, B.C., Aug. 1.—Quaint old Barkerville, an active mining camp during all the fifty-five years since gold was first discovered in Williams and Lightning creeks, is interesting both for its recollections of historic days in British Columbia mining, its continuous activity to-day and the great future which is undoubtedly ahead of it in a revival of its glories under sane government and wiser mining laws than now exist.

Buried deep in the hills, sixty miles from Quesnel, at the terminus of the Cariboo road, Barkerville might almost seem to be forgotten by the rest of the province. Its people are self-reliant and, although many of them have not been out of it for years, they are keenly interested in public affairs and follow events as recorded in the newspapers. All of them have been or are dabbling in gold-mining or prospecting, and with the gold-miner's optimism each looks forward to striking it rich some day.

Romantic. Romance is in the air and clustering about the ancient-looking buildings which face each other at a distance of twenty feet along each side of the one long street of the city. The place stands in the heart of Williams creek, or, to be accurate, from twenty-five to thirty feet above what was the bed of the creek. For the tailings from the hydraulic operations have swept down the street and under the buildings year after year, and to prevent stores and dwellings being buried they have had to be periodically raised on stilts. This is not done with any regularity, so that the sidewalks wander up and down, a very strange to the feet of the stranger. In which some famous stock companies and actors of an older day have played, has a story buried in the gravel beneath. In it was held the Liberal meeting, over which Robert Buchanan presided.

Millions in Gold. The value of the gold taken out of Lightning creek and Williams creek amounts up into millions of dollars. Fifty-five years have elapsed since prospectors and miners who had come in by way of Quesnel Forks and Keithley creek first panned gold here, and continuously since the camp has been producing. Of late years the output has been far below the yield of its palmy days, but none the less it is very large. The old town will yet see a revival of the early years is the firm belief of both those few of the men of the early sixties who remain and the younger men who have been here only a quarter of a century or so.

The camp has always been a place one, and officials of the mines department have asserted that it has no future as a quartz camp. This is one of the many complaints of the people here have to make of the mining laws. What experienced miners of Barkerville consider is a complete refutation of an official slander upon their district was shown to the Times correspondent by F. J. Tregeilts. This was a tiny pile containing ten dollars' worth of gold dust, fine as flour, rocked out in half an hour by a miner who has a quartz claim on a ledge above the city. In the office of the Cariboo Consolidated nuggets and gold dust were poured into pans until some $25,000 was in sight.

Discontent. There is great discontent with the mining laws of the province among the miners here, just as there is in all other B. C. camps, and the discontent is far from the government which so far has failed to improve these. When Mr. Brewster was here he was waited upon by a deputation of those interested in this industry, and the deeply-felt grievances of the district were placed before him and explained by some of the old-timers of the camp. It was regretted by Mr. Brewster as well as the citizens that he had not the time to visit any of the mines and see conditions on the spot.

Produce. It must not be thought that this is entirely a mining country. At Cottonwood, for instance, Mrs. Boyd and her children carry on the fine farm which the late John Boyd founded. Three of Mrs. Boyd's sturdy boys, by the way, recently left Victoria with the Western Scouts. At Wing Dam and Stanley, and even in so mineralized a community as Barkerville, gardens yield vegetables and flowers in quantity and quality.

Not Deceived. Not a word of credence is given by the miners of Cariboo in the plugging charges. They are satisfied that M. A. Macdonald is entirely innocent of the trumped-up charges of Mr. Bowser's minions, even without the conviction of his unimpeachable honesty which seeing and hearing him conveys. They recall Mr. Bowser's false statements connecting Mr. Macdonald with election irregularities, and they are asking why the attorney-general does not prosecute him for the offences he charges him with. In fact, not only do they ask this but their future member, Mr. Yorton, put it up to the premier at the latter's Quesnel meeting without getting any answer. Mr. Brewster's declaration here and at Stanley that the Liberals had started investigation into the election irregularities, and that this will not end until the men higher up and the source of the money is disclosed, was cheered to the echo.

"Grease Spots." "Bowser's grease spots" is what a witty miner at Stanley called the promises made here, there and everywhere by the premier. Being a man of the world, Mr. Bowser believes that the use of "grease" is necessary, and in politics—machine politics of his own particular type—he freely uses the "grease" of pre-election promises. The legislation he introduced, against his will, as a result of the defeats administered to his candidates in Victoria and Vancouver, were the first of the grease spots. Scattered over the north there are a number of them since the premier's tour, but the electors put little or no faith in his promises and in one case at least, that of the promised bridge over the Nechako at Fort Fraser, public works officials say the promise will not be carried out.

THE ONLY MEDICINE THAT HELPED HER

"Rochon, Que., March 2, 1916.

"I have received the most wonderful benefit from taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' I suffered for years from Rheumatism and change of life, and I took every remedy obtainable without results. I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and it was the only medicine that really did me good. Now I am entirely well—the rheumatism has disappeared, and the terrible pains in my body are all gone. I hope that others who suffer from such distressing diseases, will try 'Fruit-a-tives.'"

The proverbial hospitality of the Cariboo reaches its zenith along this upper end of the road. No reflection is cast on other portions of the road, but no second place is taken by the people of Barkerville and Stanley. Never can one be more deceived by a rude exterior than in the Cariboo. The rough, weather-beaten, edge-of-civilization hotels up here are a delusion, hardly lessened in the common room which elsewhere would be dignified by the name of rotunda. But move into the dining-room and sit at the table d'hôte with gentlemen—real and assumed—and there is a revelation of culinary excellence. The appointments may range from a crudeness of cutlery and a lack of napery matching the exterior to a dazzle of linen and silver which is reminiscent of more pretentious tables, but the fare set down for the hungry and fatigued could not be more varied, more tasty, better prepared or served in more generous measure.

A Landmark. Kelly's hotel in Barkerville is one of the landmarks of the city, and might well be an English Inn of the Dickens type. It is honestly old fashioned and with all the homely comfort that was a distinguishing mark of the elder fashion. The furnishings are in keeping. The traveler views himself in oval cheval glasses and finds himself surrounded by handsome furniture. He may, if he wish, sleep on a feather bed. Kelly's, by the way, is no different to all the houses on the Cariboo road in the important particular that its bedrooms are scrupulously clean and its linen spotless.

Jealous of Good Name. At Stanley lives the cook par excellence of the region, Mrs. F. Williams, of The Lightning hotel. It is no disparagement of the other housewives along the road to say so, for it is generally admitted by all who travel this way. But in the same town she has a close rival in Mrs. Daniel A. Beaton, who unfortunately is seriously ill and who greatly appreciated a brief call from Mr. Brewster. They are but two of the descendants of a long line of capable housewives, jealous of the good name of the old highway.

Stanley is a mining camp on Lightning Creek, coeval with Barkerville. A lot of prospecting is being done, and some development. Mr. Brewster and Mr. Yorton there met an old colleague, Harry Jones, former junior member for Cariboo. Mr. Jones is well and active, and watching the success of the party of which he has for half a century been a member. His racy wit still is remembered in the legislature. Mr. Jones it was who told the Speaker, on an occasion when the opposition was badgering the government, that his sympathies were with the government, and then damped the Conservative applause and turned the laugh by adding: "You know, Mr. Speaker, I have always had sympathy with the weak." The meeting there was held in the dining room of Mr. Beaton's hotel, courteously placed at the disposal of Mr. Brewster by the proprietor. Mr. Jones was in the chair, and he made a happy allusion to M. A. Macdonald as a nugget of gold which had passed through a cup-flood of acid and come out brighter than ever. Thirty miners, greater part of the voting population of the place, were present and were keenly interested in what Mr. Brewster, Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Yorton had to say.

Sympathies With Liberals. Dr. Michael Callanan, late junior member for Cariboo and a physician of the Dr. McClure type, lives here, highly respected and universally trusted. It is no secret that his sympathies are with the Liberal candidate, as are those of 99 per cent. of the electorate of these two mining towns.

MOVEMENT OF RUSSIAN MASSES EVER FORWARD

Best Teutons. Can Do is to Check Sweep for a Moment

Petrograd, Aug. 8.—The Teutons, desperately contesting every inch of ground, have somewhat slowed down the pace of the Russian advance. Both sides have brought up large reinforcements.

The Germans endeavored to stop the movement on Kovell by hurling Gen. Hoffman's army on the northern flank, and the shock of the impact of fresh German reinforcements arrests for the moment the advance, but once the momentum of the counter-attacks is lost the Russian mass moves slowly forward. Thus at the bend of the Stockholms the Russian forces have advanced some three miles farther west, and now are facing the line of the river Stoka, a tributary of the Stockholms.

German attempts farther north were met by successful Russian counter-attacks, which resulted in the Russians crossing the Stockholms at Lubiescow, the farthest northern point reached, only six miles south of the Pripiet. In view of the absence of roads this success is important as securing the Russian right flank.

Farther south the Russians, after several days of bitter fighting, crossed the Sereth at a point five miles west of Novolukhivka, and are actively enlarging the area held on the western bank. The crossing was effected where the Austrian line forms a salient. That the enemy realizes his danger is clearly evident from his repeated desperate but unavailing attacks, invariably repulsed with great losses.

Gen. von Bothmer's army has held its position opposite Tarnopol with extraordinary tenacity, and it remains to be seen whether the enemy's troops will extricate themselves without heavy loss.

The new enemy move southwest of Kutly, in southern Galicia, may be an attempt to prevent the Russians closing in from the south on von Bothmer's army. In any case, should the Russian success on the Sereth continue to develop favorably, Bothmer's retirement is inevitable.

MAINE COAST WATCHED FOR TWO SUBMARINES

Portland, Maine, Aug. 8.—Every point along the Maine coast was watched sharply last night for two submarines believed to be foreign vessels, possibly the long-expected German merchantman Bremen and a consort. The strange vessels were reported four miles off Cross Island, near Machias, and close to Canadian waters, yesterday, by a coastguard lookout, but no word had reached here last night to bear out the emphatic declarations from that station that they were German craft and were proceeding at top speed toward the west.

GOVT. OF FRANCE ISSUES BLACKLIST

Names of Firms in States Singled Out by Britain
on It

Paris, Aug. 8.—The names of American individuals and firms who have been placed on the French blacklist under the Trading With the Enemy Act are published in the official journal. The list, which is marked No. 1, is the same as regards American individuals and firms as that given out in London on July 18.

The complete list printed in the official journal covers twenty-four columns and includes firms and individuals in Africa, South America, Japan, the Philippines, Cuba, Denmark, Spain, Portugal, Greece, Holland, Norway and Sweden with whom French citizens are forbidden to trade.

The list is preceded by a notice from the Committee of Restriction of Supply and of Commerce with the Enemy, saying that the list is incomplete, and the fact that a firm or person is not inscribed on it cannot be invoked in any way, and that in case of doubt French merchants, having commercial relations with neutrals must continue to make the supplementary depositions provided for in the customs declaration when taking out goods.

The Perfect Corn Flakes

New Post Toasties are not only inexpensive but they have a new, deliciousness, produced by a new process of cookery—the first to produce corn flakes with the self-developed true corn flavor.

So fine is this flavor that New Post Toasties are wonderfully good eaten dry. Try some that way—you'll appreciate the point, though they're even better when served with cream or good milk.

These New Post Toasties don't mush down in milk or cream, and they are not "chaffy" in the packages, like common flakes. They're new in form, new in flavor, and new in appearance. Note the tiny "bubbles" on each flake—an identifying feature.

Put up in wax-sealed packages, New Post Toasties retain their oven-crispness and flavor until served at your table.

Have your grocer deliver a package for to-morrow's breakfast.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN STROKE.

Another important success has been gained by the Russians in southern Galicia. The Austrian line has been thrown back on a front of fifteen miles; Tarnopol has been captured and Lechitsky's troops are pursuing the enemy southwest of the Kolomea-Stanislaw railroad. The elaboration of this operation may well be awaited with the deepest interest, for there is no sector on the east front in which success promises so many sensational developments. The immediate objective of the Russians is the town of Stanislaw, some seventy miles southeast of Lemberg and on the main railroad connecting the Galician capital with Czernowitz. From Stanislaw the road runs northwest to Strzy, which is forty miles due south of Lemberg. By the capture of Tarnopol the Russians are only twelve miles east of Stanislaw, and the announcement that they are pursuing the enemy southwest of the Stanislaw-Kolomea railroad presages an advance upon Stanislaw from three directions. Halfway between Tarnopol and Stanislaw is the smaller town of Tysmenica, the occupation of which, for which we should look in a day or two, would preface the early attainment of the present Russian objective.

But in following the operations of Lechitsky's forces south of the Dniester we should remember that it is not Lemberg they are after. They are endeavoring to envelop and capture the army of General von Bothmer which is stretched along the Strypa and Sereth rivers, the wings of which, through the Russians' capture of Brody, north of Lemberg, and their operations south of the Dniester, have been bent perilously backward while the centre continues to hold its advanced positions. In view of the striking advances recorded by the Russians on both flanks during the last few weeks von Bothmer is either showing amazing hardihood or he is so closely pressed by the foe facing him that he dare not attempt to retire and is awaiting a German recovery west of Lutsk to ease the pressure. The Germans, however, are not only held west of Lutsk but the Russians have crossed the Stockhod and von Hindenburg has all he can do to bar temporarily the road to Kovel, the retention of which concerns him as vitally as the possession of Lemberg concerns the Austrians. Moreover, between Saturday and Monday the Russians advancing southward from Brody forced their way across the Sereth and captured an important series of positions with over 3,000 prisoners. They are thus threatening one of the communications of the Austrian centre—the road which runs from Tarnopol and joins the Brody-Lemberg railroad near Busk.

But the chief danger to the Austrians along the Strypa is the encircling advance of the Russian left wing, and a glance at the map will show the strategic importance of Stanislaw in this direction. The occupation of Stanislaw would not mean that the envelopment process had been completed, but it would mean something very near to it. Whether von Bothmer will still tempt disaster by remaining along the Strypa a few days will determine. We certainly ought to hear of an attempted withdrawal to the Lipa and the Bug now, and even this line would not be tenable after the Russians captured Stanislaw and advanced a few miles beyond it. Should von Bothmer retire he will suffer enormously, for the Russians on his front, particularly near Tarnopol, are pounding him heavily to hold him where he is. A Galician Sedan is becoming more than a probability.

In 1914 Russia overthrew the first line Austrian army, captured almost half a million prisoners, possessed herself of two-thirds of Galicia and threw the Teutons behind the Carpathians by operations strikingly similar to those upon which Brusiloff is now engaged. Then, as now, the Russian left wing advanced through southern Galicia, along the Kolomea-Lemberg railroad, took Stanislaw, crossed northwestward to Strzy and threw a loop around Lemberg from the south. We shall see before long if history will repeat itself so soon. The enemy's position is less favorable to-day than it was two years ago before Ruzsky and Brusiloff delivered the final strokes for which they had been manoeuvring, and should our allies be successful this time the consequences would be infinitely further reaching. Another great Russian victory in Galicia would be decisive as far as the dual monarchy is concerned.

On the west front British progress north and east of Pozieres and east of Lougeval continues slowly but surely. They are now at the approaches of Guillemont, which through an advance by the French is now menaced from two directions, and its capture is among the probabilities of the early future. These are merely minor operations in relation to the resumption of the main offensive, for which preparations are being made and the signal for which may be expected when the high ground commanding the open fields to Bapaume has been occupied and consolidated. Dispatches from London hint at an early extension of the offensive to other sectors on the western front. This is a safe prediction, because there are parts of the German front more immediately vital than the Somme salient, and these will be struck at when the exhaustion of the Teutonic reserves reaches the desired stage. The Somme salient is a capacious basket, but only a few of the allies' eggs are in it.

ITALY, TOO.

Early this afternoon news was received from Rome of an important advance by the Italians on the Isonzo front which has resulted in the capture of Gorizia bridgehead with eight thousand prisoners. This is a gratifying development of the recent resumption by Count Cadorna of the offensive on an important line which was the scene of heavy fighting last year, and it should be followed shortly by the occupation of Gorizia itself. It is hardly necessary to emphasize the strategic importance of Gorizia. The Austrians have done this by the vigor of their defence. It is sufficient for the moment to say that it commands the trunk railway to Trieste, while its relation to Austria's defensive positions behind the Isonzo is even more important. The dual monarchy is surely nearing its end.

MR. POOLEY'S EXPLANATION.

Through the morning paper Mr. Pooley has addressed a long statement to the electors of Esquimalt in which he endeavors to explain and justify his venture in political Prussianism a few evenings ago. As might have been expected, its contents denote the author's total inability to credit his readers with ordinary perception and intelligence. Who but Mr. Pooley would have begun his statement with the absurd assertion that the government organs did not publish his remarks because they wanted to see how far the opposition press would carry the subject before they took it up?

Mr. Pooley declares that the Liberal newspaper reports of his remarks were "garbled" and "misleading." They were neither; they were absolutely correct. In support of this we shall quote the budding Bowserite's own statement:

"At the meeting in question I outlined the above arrangement, told them the risk they were running, and stated that I would suggest to these gentlemen that they send in their resignations to the association within forty-eight hours and send a copy to me. If they did so, I thought I could guarantee that nothing further would be heard of the matter, but, if they did not, then they need not blame me if they got into trouble later on. I stated that of course I knew these men were all Liberals and always had been, and that they had a perfect right to vote against me and work against me if they wished to, but they should not break the rules and regulations above mentioned by having their names on the executive committee. It was not my wish to injure them in any way, especially as they were all married men and residents of the district."

The "arrangement" to which Mr. Pooley refers is an alleged agreement between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden after the 1911 election by which Liberals working for the government were to keep their positions if they did not actively participate in politics. According to Mr. Pooley, they were to be allowed to attend meetings, ask questions and vote, but not to become members of political executives. What grotesque nonsense this is! Mr. Pooley is no less complimentary to the intelligence of Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier than to the electors of Esquimalt, for, of course, no such arrangement ever was made. Members of the federal civil service are prohibited by law from actively participating in politics, but the four men to whom Mr. Pooley issued his ultimatum are not connected with the Dominion civil service, while the provincial government has nothing whatever to do with them. They are quite within their rights in joining the Liberal Association executive. They are no more subject to the provisions of the civil service act than is the gentleman who acted as chairman of Mr. Pooley's meeting the other night, who, we understand, is a carpenter employed on the government works at Signal Hill.

Mr. Pooley says he "suggested" that the four men who had incurred his wrath submit their resignations to the Liberal Association within forty-eight hours and send copies to him. If they did so he thought he could guarantee that nothing could be heard of the matter; if they did not they need not blame him if they got into trouble later on. A rather novel "suggestion," is it not? Something like von Bethmann-Hollweg's "suggestion" that Belgium convert herself into a roadway for the Prussian juggernaut car. Mr. Pooley's chairman, however, elaborated the "suggestion" by warning the four men that if they did not do as Mr. Pooley demanded "their wives, their children and their homes would be placed in jeopardy." But what we would like to know is the authority on which Mr. Pooley was able to "guarantee" immunity to these men if they did what he suggested or "trouble later on" if they did not. Was he speaking from the deck of the Bowser machine? His arrogant attempt at coercion has not been repudiated by the Premier or any member of the government. The government press is silent—so silent that it has not even reproduced the Pooley outburst as a matter of legitimate news for the enlightenment of its readers.

We, too, have a suggestion to offer. It is that Mr. Pooley entertain himself with a little casual examination of the works of the machine upon which he is so dizzily perched. He will find among its district road superintendents in his own district who just now are using large quantities of lubricants in their allotted functions. A similar state of affairs prevails all over the province. Provincial policemen, government agents, in fact all and sundry, are doing nothing else these days than promoting the fortunes of Bowserism. And they are all provincial government employees, too, over whom Mr. Bowser has direct control. Why not hurl an ultimatum or two in their direction?

Some of the cartoons appearing in magazines and newspapers south of the line strike the outsider as extremely ludicrous. For instance, the other day the Chicago Tribune published a picture representing Uncle Sam with stern mien and a real backbone threatening that if John Bull did not withdraw his blacklist he (Sam) would announce to the world that he would not be responsible for the safety of Americans traveling on British ships; whereupon John Bull is depicted as being terror-stricken. Ye Gods! When has the United States asserted responsibility for the lives and safety of Americans on vessels belonging to the allies or even on American ships or anywhere else? It is the vigilance of the British navy and that alone which protects traveling Americans in the exercise of their legitimate rights and not the hesitant pointing of a finger by Washington. It is now seventeen months since more than a hundred Americans were drowned in the Lusitania massacre, but no reparation has been made and none will be made. Even Villa is unpunished in Mexico.

The ever ygeracious Overseas News Agency reports the All-Highs to have turned his sacred back upon the eastern front after fixing everything up securely there, and gone to the west, where important matters awaited his most serious consideration. And along comes an official report to-day stating that the Russians, ignoring the infallible dispositions of the Kaiser, have set to work and driven the forces of Austria and Germany back fifteen miles, capturing nearly nine thousand prisoners. Mean time, repeatedly taking advantage of a man when his back is turned.

President Wilson has had a narrow escape. Upon investigating the circumstances of the sinking of an Italian merchant ship with the loss of a number of non-combatants by a Hun submarine he finds that no Americans were aboard and the incident therefore is closed. Had there been Americans on the vessel he would have had to write another note. Countless millions throughout the world will share his relief over the discovery that this will not be necessary.

About the choicest tit-bit in Mr. Pooley's letter to-day was his explanation of the failure of the government newspapers to report his celebrated ultimatum to the four working-men. He said it was because those papers wanted to see how far the opposition press would go with the matter before they dealt with it. Quite a brilliant theory. We never thought of it. Neither did anybody else except Mr. Pooley and least of all our morning contemporary.

mains that wherever he goes the people attend his meetings in masses, either for the "uplift" or the entertainment.

He is one of the "institutions" of the continent and cannot be ignored. The dust flies when Billy is on the base lines. As a news feature he is worth some space.

Should the Deutschland evade all the perils of the sea and finally reach Hamburg, there may be some little excitement along the docks of that once great maritime port, but a great army of longshoremen will not be required to handle her cargo. Hamburg is a dead one commercially, and never will be revived by submarine shipping. It will remain as it is during the pleasure of the allies.

The French also have issued a blacklist, identical with the list issued by the British. Yet there has been no strong, peppy, protest from President Wilson directed to the French government. Is it because no votes are to be gained by doing something to France that is equivalent to twisting the Lion's tail?

Wonder if the deluded German people ever ponder over the magnitude of the bills they must pay in consequence of the methods of Hohenzollern and Tirpitz. Every ship sunk and every life taken adds materially to the length of the bill.

Harry Pooley, in his unique apostrophe, pleads that he simply was waiting to see how far the Liberal press would go before pleading an "alibi." But the truth is that Harry thought he might as well dismount from his high horse before the animal sent him sprawling.

Too bad that all Harry Pooley's arrangements for taking the vote on the Rainbow were upset owing to certain untoward and adverse circumstances. The "machine" is getting its bumps these days. But the worst is yet to come.

It seems a long time since we had a single word about the doings of "Little Willie," the hero that was to be of Verdun.

R. M. Pooley's explanation is an explanation which does not explain. It admits.

John Day, in his own peculiar incoherent way, "doth protest too much."

COMMITTED TO ASSIZE

James E. Hatt Will Face Jury on Charge of Attempted Suicide.

How close was death when James E. Hatt was found last Sunday week at Mary Tod Island with a wound in the throat was shown this morning in the evidence of Dr. Thomas Miller, and D. C. Seabourne, proprietor of the Oak Bay bathhouse, who hired the boat to Hatt. Chief of Police Syme also gave evidence, in the charge of attempted suicide.

The case was heard in the Oak Bay police court, and the accused, who is defended by R. C. Lowe, will be tried at the fall assizes for the county. The knife which the prosecution alleged was used for the act was of a heavy type, and in addition accused had a pocket knife with him, so it was charged that the large clasp knife had been obtained for the special purpose of self-destruction.

Marketing Bureau.—This afternoon the food products committee for the Board of Trade is meeting in the board of trade committee room for the purpose of discussing the establishment of a central marketing bureau. The committee is a large one and the subject of general interest.

Granted Commission.—George Swan, of this city, has been granted a first lieutenant's commission, unattached. He will leave for Ottawa this week to report to the divisional signalling corps. Mr. Swan is one of the most popular and widely-known telegraphers on the North Pacific coast, having been for years employed in the Yukon by the Dominion government.

Arranging for Election.—Returning Officer Sidney Childs is sending letters to all the independent candidates in the city asking if they wish to be represented by scrutineers at the polling, which is to take place on September 14. It is necessary to know how many scrutineers will be present in order to provide accommodation for them in the booths. The more scrutineers, the further apart the boxes must be placed.

Saanichton Red Cross.—The Red Cross Society of Saanichton is holding a garden fete at the Agricultural grounds, Saanichton, on Saturday, August 12. There will be sports during the afternoon arranged by the soldiers. Supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock at a price of twenty-five cents for each person. A dance will be held in the evening, the music to be furnished by the orchestra of the B. C. Bantams. There will be a charge of twenty-five cents for the dancing. A special rate has been arranged on the B. C. Interurban from Victoria to Saanichton, viz., fifty cents return. A big crowd is expected, provided the weather is good.

Life of Christ.—Notwithstanding the very strong counter-attraction at the Metropolitan Methodist church, where Robert Watkin Mills was singing and a new pastor was preaching, there was an exceptionally large congregation on Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church to hear the first of a special sermon series on "The Life of Christ," the preacher being Rev. J. G. Inkerster. The sermon was illustrated with some beautiful lantern slides of famous paintings on the subject. Beginning with the Annunciation the preacher dealt with the "silent years" at Nazareth. Afterwards was the Baptism on the Jordan, then the Temptation in the Wilderness. Next Sunday Mr. Inkerster will deal with the first period of the Galilean ministry.

Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter.—There was a meeting last evening of the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, I. O. D. E., in the Y. W. C. A. library, with Mrs. David Miller in the chair. An invitation from Mrs. Macklin of Cordova Bay for the chapter to visit her summer home there was gratefully accepted, and Mesdames Miller and Hardie were appointed a committee on arrangements. It was reported that the chapter had sent in 246 pounds of strawberry jam to be included in the provincial chapter jam gift for the soldiers at the front. Thirty-five pairs of socks, 11 hospital shirts, and 5 pairs of hospital shoes (given by Mrs. E. H. Anderson) were reported by Mrs. W. G. Cameron, on behalf of the knitting and needlework committee, and $7 was contributed to the Red Cross Society through the chapter, being the gift of eight little girls under the direction of Mrs. Edgar. The usual monthly donations to the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., and the Victoria Patriotic Society were authorized. The book for the month for the Y. W. C. A. library is "The Making of a Mahatma." Mrs. Sanderson, of Saskatchewan, was a visitor at the meeting, at which it was announced that there would be no further sessions until the second Monday in September.

Native Sons.—This afternoon at 4 o'clock the executive of the Grand Post, Native Sons, is meeting in the K. of P. hall. Delegates from different parts of the province arrived in the city earlier in the day, and at the meeting this afternoon the grand officers of the lodge here from Nanaimo, Vancouver, New Westminster, Ladnor and Victoria will transact the business of the Grand Post. Usually this is done at a general meeting of the Grand Post, but on account of the very large proportion of the membership which is away on active service with the colors at the present time it was decided to leave the matter with the grand officers of the lodge. To-night the regular meeting of Victoria Post No. 1 will be held in the K. of P. hall, and a smoking concert will take place. Members of Post No. 6 are invited to attend.

HOOP SKIRT PASSES;
NOW FULL AND SHORT

Fashion Turns Attention to Bodice; Collars and Sleeves Important Details

New York, Aug. 5.—The hoop-skirt scare has entirely passed. There is no denying the charm of the hoop, but in this day and age it has no place except in the most frivolous of dance and evening gowns, and even from these, it is being ripped out. This does not mean, however, a return to the narrow skirt; no indeed, merely limp skirts.

The dainty mid-summer voile and orlandines are as full and bouffant as ever, but their fullness falls softly about the figure, and their buoyancy is induced by their width and the nature of the material.

Collars and Sleeves.
Having finished with skirts as far as width, shortness and trimming are concerned, Fashion has now turned her attention to the bodice, laying especial stress on collars and sleeves. Any little becoming idea which strikes one may be used in both of these, affording charming possibilities of showing individuality. From the dainty, pleated turnover or frill on the dark taffeta frock, the collar ranges to the deep broad collar extending to the waistline and below. There are many who favor the high collar, even in summer.

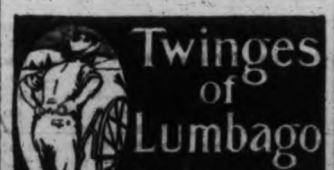

Plain and Striped Voile in Jumper Frock

mer, but this is fashioned of net or organdy, and is open in front, so it is really not a high collar after all, but a very becoming detail of frock or blouse. The wide, cape-like collar is most popular this summer. For summer evenings, with light frocks, there are becoming ruffs of net, chiffon, or maline, and the chic little shoulder cape of Georgette trimmed with fur or marabout.

Sleeves are transparent, or semi-transparent, of crepe, net or chiffon to match the color of the material of the frock; and are both long and short. The closely cuffed sleeve is favored, and also the flowing sleeve. These latter are very easily made, being finished around the lower edge with a bias fold, or the effective picot edge.

Underfittings for Sheer Frocks.
Although not as conspicuous, equally as important as the frock are the dainty underfittings designed to complete it. Combinations, envelope chemises, camisoles, petticoats and knickerbockers are being fashioned of pale pink or blue cotton crepe or voile, the barred and striped cottons, wash satins, and the daintiest possible of sprigged silks with pale toned grounds.

The pink or blue crepe or voile is usually finished around armholes, neck and lower edges with bias folds of contrasting color attached with hemstitching. The flowered silks are also bound with white, or a plain color, or are finished with lace. The envelope chemise is one of the most popular of garments, being shirred, smocked, tucked or box pleated. For general wear glove-silk and pongee are also modish and practical materials for the separate coats for general wear over light frocks and for motoring.

Speaking of separate coats, they have been more in demand these last few seasons than for some time, owing to the popularity of one-piece dresses. Some of the most attractive of these coats are being made of dark blue Bedford cord with collar and cuffs of white broadcloth or flannel. Gay silks are used for lining them, or no linings at all. Some of the new lining foulards and voiles are particularly effective.

A HAREM EPISODE

"Brides of the Desert" End Sword
Play in Tragedy at Pantages
This Week.

It is a pity that the peoples of the Occident are so philosophical in their love-affairs. The solution of their domestic problems lacks simplicity as a consequence. "Brides of the Desert," the pantomime tragedy which concludes the Pantages bill this week, displays the fundamental passions of hate, love and jealousy, in full play, and reveals an uninvolved method of solution in splendid Oriental trappings. The two dances by the rival slaves of Prince Amenaris (it doesn't give the gentleman's address) are the features of the act, and incidentally are plausibly introduced. That of Sabrina (Miss Mercereau) is almost Occidental; that of Zulka (Princess Athena) is barbaric, full of seductive savagery which changes readily into the frenzied dance of an enraged creature. The dancing of the slaves of the harem is quite attractive, and the curious Oriental character of Mr. Cluxton's music gives atmosphere.

The first thing on the programme this week is the posing by living models. As an exposition of this sort of art it is quite the finest thing that has come here, and there were not a few in the house who were sceptical as to the life of the figures until in the last pose of all, the models relaxed their muscles and assumed normal positions. "Apollo Charming the Shepherdess," "A Greek Slave," "The Flying Mercury," "Aux Armes," and "The Marathon Runner" were among some of the best groupings. "Aux Armes" and "The Flying Mercury" were prime favorites, the latter being a remarkable demonstration of sustained position.

There is a strange intermingling of pathos and bathos in "The Lost Boy," which uses the sympathies of the audience mercilessly. The love-making scene is quite unique and very funny. Mr. Green and Miss Parker are a pair of polished comedians, who dress well, move well, and give a novel run of mirth for the money. The "Apostles of Good Cheer" introduce their turn cleverly, and the audience was tricked into committing itself on the subject even before they were aware that the act was before the curtain.

CANDIES APPRECIATED

"Homade" Confectionery Adjudged by Tommies as Front to Be Best They Get.

Stevenson's confectionery, of this city, is in receipt of a letter from Pte. W. H. McNally, of the 154th Canadian Brigade, expressing thanks for some boxes of candies sent for Easter, but which arrived rather late. The following is an extract:

"Dear 'Homade'—Some time ago there came to the battalion, for the boys from Victoria, a consignment of candies. Fortunately for myself, I was on the spot when it arrived and had my choice. There were big boxes and small boxes; boxes colored green, yellow, red, in fact every color of the rainbow, and many the poor rainbow was never guilty of. There were boxes with pink ribbon and boxes tied with yellow and green ribbon. But when my wandering sight rested on a plain chocolate colored box with the well-remembered red sign of 'Homade' thereon, I knew my quest was over. I immediately pinched one box while the others were scrambling for the gaily decorated ones, and then claimed another as my just share thereof. It did not take them long to discover their mistake, and then they besieged me, trying to get a taste of real candy. 'All these candies were appreciated very much indeed, but Stevenson's 'Homade' were unanimously voted the Burtt Morgan, at present district manager of the Great West Life at Victoria, B. C., and for a number of years district manager for the same company at Edmonton.

Mr. Morgan was in the Albertan city on his way home after attending the annual convention of Canadian Life Underwriters, recently held at Hamilton, at which he was elected to the presidency. This is only the second time in the history of the organization that a western man has been chosen for this office, and the fact that until the present Mr. Morgan has held no office, having been elevated from the ranks to the head of the association, is a tribute to his ability and a recognition of his peculiar fitness for the important office.

Taking advantage of his presence in Edmonton the local life insurance underwriters association arranged a luncheon, and nearly fifty members gathered to do honor to the new Dominion president and to listen to an inspiring and interesting address from Mr. Morgan, dealing with the recent Canadian convention particularly and in general with problems which affect the life insurance underwriters.

Mr. Morgan gave some of his impressions of the convention, one of them being the fact that there was a very marked tendency towards more effective co-operation among life insurance men and a desire to be of mutual service in inaugurating plans for increasing the efficiency of the men who sell insurance.

In speaking of some of the plans for the future, two in particular were emphasized. One had to do with the standardization of provincial laws affecting life insurance and beneficiaries' rights, and the other was the need for a general campaign of education on the fundamental principles underlying life insurance. Mr. Morgan expressed it as his conviction that the importance of life insurance to the people generally, justified the proposal to include in every university and high school, and even in the common school curriculum, some instruction, either in the form of lectures or through text books, on this subject. It was deplorable, he said, that so many men in business and professional life failed entirely to have any knowledge of principles or practice of life insurance. He had already interviewed some of the university presidents on this question and intended during his term of office to see the head of every university in Canada and urge upon them the necessity for education along this line.

Dealing with matters peculiarly affecting the work of the Underwriters Association, Mr. Morgan emphasized the need for extending the scope of membership, at the same time taking care that in bringing men into life insurance work they should be first thoroughly trained, and be men of sufficient education to worthily represent one of the greatest and best forces for the public good in operation in the country.

The present membership of the Dominion association is about 1,000, and Mr. Morgan's ambition is during his term of office to increase it to near 2,000.

CAKE GIVEN AWAY AT COOKERY SCHOOL

Two Sessions at Princess Theatre To-morrow; Lecture in the Evening

Programme for Wednesday at 3

Subject:
"Our Daily Bread"
Menu:
Pot Roast with Noodles and Potatoes in Fireless Cooker
Bread, Hot Cross Buns
Crullers, Cream Icing
Mader Orange Cake

A programme which will interest the men has been prepared by Mrs. Brown-Lewers, the lecturer and cookery teacher who is conducting the Daily Times Better Foods, Better Homes School in Princess Theatre this week. This programme will be carried out to-morrow night, and the women who have been enjoying the sessions of the Daily Times Better Foods, Better Homes School and telling their husbands all about them may bring these same husbands along to-morrow night and let them judge for themselves whether or not Mrs. Brown-Lewers is the kind of cook she is reputed to be.

Her lessons are attracting good crowds, and women who are attending are saying all kinds of nice things about her. Some teachers tell how to make a cake and give some of the cake made by their method, but Mrs. Brown-Lewers demonstrates every process of the cake recipe in full sight of her class, explaining which are the best materials to use and why, and just exactly how these materials should be put together and how to regulate the oven temperature, and in short, how to bake a good cake that does not cost very much. This same detailed information will be given to-morrow in regard to the making of good bread. The lecture subject for Wednesday afternoon is on "Our Daily Bread," and in this talk Mrs. Brown-Lewers explains the value of a good home-made loaf and tells exactly how to make one. She does not use a bread-making process that takes all night, and all of the woman's physical strength for kneading. Instead, she teaches a short and easy method.

The lecture for Wednesday evening will be on "The Family Pocketbook," and this will be followed with a talk on Thursday which deals with one method of lessening the drain on the purse strings—that of successfully using left-overs instead of wasting them.

The Daily Times Better Foods, Better Homes School continues through Friday, when Mrs. Brown-Lewers will deliver her lecture on "Motherhood." Each afternoon Mrs. Brown-Lewers is giving away a cookery leaflet containing the recipes used in her demonstration lessons, and is serving the foods prepared. Yesterday afternoon she gave away a snow cake, and will each afternoon give away something just as attractive.

As announced by Mrs. Brown-Lewers, the recipe for ginger mousse demonstrated by her to-day at the Daily Times Better Foods, Better Homes School in Princess Theatre, is given below, together with some other interesting recipes submitted by her:

Ginger Mousse.

1½ cupfuls scalded milk, 1 cupful sugar, 3 tablespoonfuls ginger syrup, 1 tablespoonful vanilla, ½ teaspoonful salt, 2 tablespoonfuls granulated gelatine, ¼ cupful cold water, 1 quart cream, 1 cupful Canton ginger cut in small pieces, 2 tablespoonfuls lemon juice.

Heat the milk, add sugar, stir until sugar is dissolved. Add ginger syrup, vanilla and salt. Soak the gelatine in the water until soft. Add to the hot milk and stir in double boiler until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Set aside to cool. When the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the cream which has been whipped, and last add the ginger to which the lemon juice has been added. Pour into a mould, seal with a paraffined cloth. Tie securely and freeze in a fireless cooker packed in a mixture of salt and ice in equal parts. Freeze 3 to 4 hours.

Oatmeal Wafers.

One cupful flour, 2 cupfuls oatmeal, ½ teaspoonful soda, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful spice, ½ cupful crisco, 1 cupful brown sugar, cold water.

Mix flour and oatmeal, soda, salt and spice. Rub in crisco and sugar. Add water to make a very stiff dough. Roll thin, cut and bake in hot oven.

Turnip Cups With Carrots.

Remove skins from young turnips of uniform size. Plunge into boiling water, at the end of 10 minutes, salt. When tender, remove, drain and scoop out centres, making a cup.

Dice your carrots. Put into just enough water to cover. Add ½ teaspoonful sugar to each cupful of carrots and a sprig of mint. Cook until tender, when the water should be nearly evaporated. Remove carrots. Make a medium white sauce, using liquor in which carrots have been cooked and adding necessary milk. Make sauce very hot. Return carrots and when heated through, fill turnip cups. Serve garnished with green.

Mother's Fried Chicken.

Two tender spring chickens, salt, flour, egg, bread crumbs, 4 tablespoonfuls crisco, 2 tablespoonfuls flour, 1 cupful thin cream.

Remove legs and wings from chickens and split. Salt and tone in a pan of flour, dip in beaten egg and roll in bread crumbs. Fry five minutes in deep crisco hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 30 counts. Remove and put in an earthen baking dish. Cover tightly and bake in oven for 30 minutes. Remove from dish, and add crisco rubbed in flour and cream. Let cook 20 minutes. Arrange chicken on platter surrounded by small baking powder biscuits. Pour over the cream gravy and serve piping hot.

Corn Bread.

Two cupfuls cornmeal, 1 cupful flour, 1 teaspoonful salt, ½ teaspoonful soda, 1 cupful sweet milk, 2 well-beaten eggs, 3 tablespoonfuls melted crisco, 1 cupful buttermilk.

Mix dry ingredients. Add sweet milk, then eggs, melted crisco, and lastly buttermilk. Beat well and bake in shallow pan in a hot oven.

KITCHENER A MAN OF THE EMPIRE.

He was a man of the empire. Until he began his last and greatest work, which, as the prime minister said, in his eulogy of him in the House of Commons last week, he had only undertaken with great reluctance and from a pressing sense of duty. Lord Kitchener has never served at home. He was not 'cast in the politicians' mould. He was borne to command and to be obeyed, to fashion armies, to win provinces, to rule dependencies. The middle west knew him best of all, but the far east also felt and trusted his firm and sagacious hand, and if he was the conqueror of the South African Republics he was also their pacificator. What the British empire owes to Lord Kitchener, the Nile—oldest and wisest of rivers—is the best witness, from Fashoda, through Omdurman to Egypt and the sea; and witness, too, is borne by the Orange River and the Vaal, and the five rivers of the Punjab, where he reorganized and redistributed the strong defences of India. The British empire has had many brilliant sons and servants. But as we throw back our minds into the past it is hard to name one who served it better and did more for its glory than Lord Kitchener.—London Telegraph.

Lorette—You look worried, old chap. Yaddah—Yes; I'm afraid my wife is sick. She stayed at home all yesterday afternoon.

CHERNIAVSKY TRIO TO PLAY AT PRINCESS

Russian Musicians Will Assist
Lieut. Hilliam at Recreation
Fund Concerts

Although his flying visit to Victoria lasted but one short day, Lieut. B. C. Hilliam lost no time yesterday in making preparations for the three concerts which he and his staff are giving at the Princess theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in aid of the Canadian Camp Recreation Fund. As a result of his efforts a number of the most prominent musical people in the city are going to assist at the concerts.

Chief by common consent are the renowned Cherniavskys, who, in spite of the fact that they are themselves giving a recital shortly, consented gladly to render assistance to the cause which Lieut. Hilliam represents. These three famous musician brothers from Russia, who are spending their summer vacation at "Clovelly," Esquimalt, will contribute one or two of their trio numbers to the programmes which Lieut. Hilliam is arranging. Mrs. Macdonald Fahey is another noted musician whose home is in Victoria, and she also has consented to sing for the soldiers. Among the many other talented musical people who have generously volunteered to assist are Miss Phyllis Clayton, Miss Mona Milner, Miss Rowena Barker, Miss Mitchell and J. MacMillan Muir.

It should not be forgotten that Lieut. Hilliam and his staff are also on the programme. Lieut. Hilliam is a scholarly musician who has a knack of doing things on the piano that nobody else ever dreamed of. He is a composer and song writer and will sing some of his own humorous numbers in the course of the evening. Sergt. Murgatroyd is also a pianist and Sergt. Adamson is a baritone singer of great ability. Sergt. Evans will speak briefly during the evening about the fund.

It is not generally known that Lieut. Hilliam is a fully qualified officer in the Canadian Engineers. People do not usually credit a musical genius with having engineering skill or any loan.

kind of practical ability, and indeed the combination is unusual. This army man, however, has not only earned his rank of lieutenant, but has passed the examination qualifying him for a rank higher. His talent as an entertainer led to his being sent out on the present tour by the department of militia to raise money for the soldiers' recreation while in camp.

For military reasons it has been advantageous to place the camps in communities often quite a long distance from populous centres, which fact makes off-duty hours rather dull for the men unless there is plenty of sport to be had. It was with a view to having a fund available to buy footballs, goal posts, lacrosse sticks, baseball gloves, etc., that the present tour was organized and Mr. Hilliam has already raised several thousand dollars. In the east his cause drew big crowds and his genius sent them away convinced that they had done no act of charity when they purchased tickets to hear him play.

BUT FEAR THOU NOT AT ALL.

"Hope thou not too much, but fear thou not at all." That is the mood in which the British people are watching the British offensive. After nearly two years of war at its worst they have steeled themselves against foolish expectations as well as against foolish forebodings. They see the immeasurable struggle in its true perspective. They know that it is a tug-of-war, with nations pulling against each other on all fronts, and that victory can be won only by tireless patience and unwavering endurance. They have no illusions left. Clean gone is the old dream of a swift and sudden collapse of the enemy. Reality has taken possession of our souls. We know that if we endure to the end, civilization will be saved. We know that the Germans are still brave and still unbeaten. But we also know that their ascendancy is ebbing away, and that the initiative on all fronts is passing into the hands of the allies.—London Star.

Tommy came back to school after a siege of toothache and a visit to the dentist. "It's too bad you couldn't have saved the tooth," said the teacher, sympathetically. "Sure, I saved it," was Tommy's triumphant reply. And he flashed the trophy out of his pocket—New York Press.

It is not good for a man to give a loan.

A Herring Across the Trail

Every elector should pay particular attention to one important and conspicuous fact, that—

Prohibition is not an issue before the electorate on September 14th next. The B. C. Prohibition Act is presented for approval or rejection, and it undoubtedly speaks for itself.

There is nothing approaching Prohibition in the Act; it was not even intended to prohibit the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages; on the other hand, IT WILL INCREASE THE USE OF STRONG LIQUOR.

The B. C. Prohibition Act should be called the "Abolition of Liquor Control Act," because this is exactly what it does.

The B. C. Prohibition Act should state the following in its preamble:

"Whereas it is expedient to transfer the sale of liquor from the present vendors to Government vendors, drug stores, department stores, physicians, dentists, veterinary surgeons and any firm doing business outside the Province, and to provide for increased consumption of liquor in the homes of the people."

This wording outlines exactly what the Prohibition Act does.

The word "Prohibition" IS A HERRING ACROSS THE TRAIL. Read the Act. If you want a copy telephone 4589 and it will be mailed to you.

Tire Costs Lowered by Goodyear

Goodyear Tires, Tubes and Tire-Saver Accessories are easy to obtain from Goodyear Service Station Dealers everywhere. Look for this Emblem.

"Made in Canada" Lowers the Price of Goodyear Tires—Goodyear Service Adds 25% to 50% to the Mileage

At Bowmanville, Ont., the great Goodyear factories have been turning out tires day and night all year. Every one of those Goodyear tires costs you less because it is made in Canada. There is no high "imported" price on Goodyears.

For many tires you are asked to pay an "imported" price—a price 40% to 50% higher than the price at which they are sold in the United States. Yet this increased cost on account of duty paid adds nothing to their value. For most of these same tires sell in their home market at prices lower than Goodyears.

Aside from any question of price, thousands of motorists have found that other tires do not give mileage as great as do Goodyears.

For mark this! Though most of these imported tires cost more than Goodyears in Canada, yet they cost less than Goodyears in the United States. But in the United States Goodyears are the favored tire. By actual count in 71 cities, one tire in every five was a Goodyear. If, at higher prices, as in the States, Goodyear give greater value—how much more should you use Goodyears when you can buy at lower prices.

Just how great is the saving to you is shown by these tables:

Were Goodyears NOT Made in Canada, They Would Cost You—			But Goodyears ARE Made in Canada, So They Cost You Only—
Size	Plain All-Weather		Size	Plain All-Weather
30 x 3½	$19.02	$22.23	30 x 3½	$15.00	$18.00
32 x 3½	21.87	25.58	32 x 3½	18.95	22.75
34 x 4	31.92	37.34	34 x 4	28.10	33.80
36 x 4½	44.96	52.65	36 x 4½	39.35	47.20
37 x 5	52.44	65.55	37 x 5	45.45	54.50

You must add to the value received in Goodyear Tires, the value of Goodyear Service. It adds 25% to 50% to the life of your tires. It saves money by saving tires. As rendered by Goodyear Service Stations it includes:

Inspection, to see that your tires are properly inflated for the weight of your car. Advice as to the benefit of more modern rims. You will be told whether your tire is worth repairing—whether an inside tire protector will add mileage.

You will be shown how tire putty keeps water and sand out of tread cuts.

You will be supplied with everything needed in an emergency to repair your tires.

You will be supplied with Goodyear Tires, Tubes and Tire-Saver Accessories without delay.

You will be shown how to make your decreased tire-cost-per-mile offset your increased gasoline cost-per-mile.

WAS BEATEN AND

SHOT BY STRIKERS

H. P. Green, Seattle Business Man, Grievously Injured by Gang

Seattle, Aug. 8.—Accused of being a member of the Employers' Association and shot in the head, and later beaten terribly while unconscious from the bullet wound, Henry P. Green, a well known insurance man, lies in a local sanitarium in a precarious condition, as the result of what he alleges was a longshoremen's outrage perpetrated on Saturday near the Port Commission Smith Cove wharf. No report of the occurrence appears on the police records. Green, a member of the Seattle Golf Club and a prominent business man of the city, asserts he was set upon by a gang of five men, who announced they were striking longshoremen and accused him of being one of the members of the Employers' Association, or at least a superintendent of non-union dock workers.

When he denied the charge he was set upon, shot in the head and then beaten severely, he alleges. He is alive to-day because the bullet glanced off his skull after breaking his nose and striking the frontal bone over his left eye.

The shooting of Green occurred before Saturday evening's mob of rioters attacked a street car on which non-union dock workers were being carried into the city, and in the presence of women and children, who crouched on the floor between the seats, beat six men brutally.

CRACK BLUE FUNNEL SHIP IS RETURNING

After 20 Months' Absence, Liner Proteus is Resuming Trans-Pacific Run

Preparatory to returning to the trans-Pacific run after an absence of twenty months the British steamship Proteus, of the Blue Funnel line, according to word brought by Capt. W. Black, master of the Ixion, is now due at Hongkong to load cargo for North Pacific ports.

The Proteus was dispatched from Birkenhead in June under orders to steam for the Far East by way of Capetown, South Africa, and the Straits Settlements. Owing to the activities of enemy submarines in the Mediterranean, the larger shipping concerns operating vessels between the United Kingdom and the Orient are now sending all ships via the Cape of Good Hope route.

After she has completed the discharge of her United Kingdom cargo in the Orient, the Proteus will start loading at Hongkong and it is expected that she will get away from that port the first week in September. According to the present arrangements the liner will leave Yokohama on September 20 and reach Victoria on October 4.

The Proteus is one of the largest freighters in the service of Alfred Holt & Co., of Liverpool, for which concern she was built in 1910 by Hawthorn, Leslie & Co., Ltd., Newcastle. She is a vessel of 9,547 tons gross and 5,118 tons net.

The many friends of Capt. Braithwaite will be pleased to learn that he is returning to the North Pacific coast in command of his old ship, Capt. Braithwaite spent eight months on the Pacific with the Proteus following the commandeering of his vessel by the government authorities shortly after the outbreak of war. The liner was released a year ago last April and was then loaded with a heavy cargo of foodstuffs on Puget sound and sent home via the Panama canal. For the past year the Proteus has been plying between Liverpool and the Far East.

The speed record of the Blue Funnel fleet on the Pacific is held by the Proteus, she having crossed from Yokohama in slightly over 12 days.

WAKENA AGAIN UNDER BORDER LINE CHARTER

Motor-Driven Vessel Reached Port This Morning With Freight From Seattle

Again under charter to the Border Line Transportation Company for operation in the Seattle-British Columbia freight service, the motor vessel Wakena, owned by the Clatskanie Transportation Company of Portland, arrived here this morning with a full cargo of general freight for Canadian consignees.

The chartering of the Wakena by the Border Line was made necessary by the heavy freight movement that has developed between Puget Sound and British Columbia. The Wakena will ply to Victoria on regular schedule in conjunction with the steamer Fulton, H. R. Davenport, local manager for Border Line & Co., is agent here for the Border Line.

Capt. W. F. Hanson, veteran master of the Border Line's British Columbia service, brought the Wakena over from Seattle. He was master of the steamer Despatch when she was operated as a freighter between Seattle and Victoria, and later had command of the Fulton and Edith. H. Lewis, who has long been in the service of the Border Line, is purser.

The Wakena formerly operated in the Border Line service over this route, being returned to her owners last fall when the company acquired the steamer Edith. The vessel is now under charter to the Border Line for a year.

HOLT HILL'S MASTER

WINS DISTINCTION

Capt. H. J. Bray Decorated by the King for Services in Auxiliary Patrol

Lieut. Henry James Bray, R.N.R., formerly master of the British barque Holt Hill, a vessel well known in the British Columbia trade, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross in recognition of his services in the auxiliary patrol. The following announcement is contained in a copy of the Gazette, just received from England:

"Admiralty, June 14, 1915.—The king has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following awards of the Distinguished Service Cross to the following officers in recognition of their services during the period January, 1915, to January 31, 1916, on armed yachts, trawlers and drifters of the auxiliary patrol, who have carried out their duties under extremely arduous and hazardous conditions of weather and exposure to every attack and mines, with marked zeal, gallantry and success: Lieutenant Henry James Bray, R.N.R."

This is the first intimation friends of Captain Bray have received that this merchant skipper is doing his bit in the North Sea. The Holt Hill loaded lumber at Hastings mill in the summer of 1910. He came to Vancouver to take command following the drowning of Captain Bolander, who fell off the gangplank at Hastings mill. In 1911 the Holt Hill returned from South American ports and loaded lumber at Fraser River mills, also for South America. She was again on this coast in 1913 when the Holt Hill brought a cargo of nitrate for Victoria and then loaded a cargo of lumber at Tacoma for the United Kingdom. She arrived there in June, 1914, and upon the outbreak of war Captain Bray joined the auxiliary patrol, which Kipling has described as "the fringes of the fleet."

SOME NAUTICAL PHRASES

If the nautical language does not furnish so many expressions as the vernacular of other callings, it must at least be given credit for holding the leading position in versatility and force. "Leaving the ropes," says the Honolulu Star Bulletin, contains abundant meaning to any landsman who has ever attempted to master the leads of the standing and running rigging of a square-rigged sailing vessel; the universal application of this phrase in everyday language is too apparent to need commenting on.

Very few people connect the common phrase "bracing up" with its nautical origin, though the connection is close. When the wind hauls head a little it is, of course, necessary to "brace up" the square-rigger's yards, to enable her to stand up under the new conditions. In this the connection lies. Landsmen commonly use the expression "taken aback" to mean taken by surprise. No sailorman will allow the wind to get on the wrong (forward) side of his sails if he can help it. The masts are not stayed to stand much of a strain from forward, and when the wind comes out ahead, blowing the sails flat against the masts, the mate of the vessel is alarmed and immediately uses all his seamanship to "fill away." Here again we have another common phrase, "backing and filling." And its meaning has direct reference to the wind being first on the wrong side and then on the right side of the sails. The expression has a common metaphorical meaning ashore.

"Leeway," while it has a twin meaning at sea, is in both cases a very similar word to its land analogue. When a ship is lying so close to the wind that her yards are braced sharp up, one component of the wind's total force acts to drive her ahead while the other sends her steadily sidewise down wind. This latter effect is called "leeway." The word also means the amount of departure allowed to one side or the other of a given course that will still leave a reasonable margin of safety. In this sense the word has the same meaning ashore.

"Adrift" has the same meaning ashore and ashore. So has "weathering," and "keep your weather eye open." So is "bringing up with a round turn." At sea or on board ship, rather, since it nearly always happens in harbor, a line which is being played out with considerable force pulling at the outboard end may be checked quite easily by taking a "round turn" of the slack around the bitts or a pin, or anything on deck that is strong enough. The length of the line subjected to an improvised friction brake amounts to about four times the diameter of the pin or post on which it is wound, and thus an ordinary man can control a weight or strain of many tons.

DOLLAR LINE EXTENDS WHARF AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Aug. 8.—A shed extension of one hundred feet is to be built at the Dollar dock, which is the eastern section of the pier constructed by the Great Northern railway, and the Dollar Line is also constructing wharf offices at the pier. The western section is leased by the Barco Guthrie Company. The Dollar Line is handling a large amount of cargo for the Russian government and there are rumors from well-authenticated sources that the government of the czar intends to purchase the Dollar dock, which is leased from the Great Northern. However, Melville Dollar this morning said he knew nothing about such a move. Last week-end there were four Dollar Line steamers at the dock, the Harold Dollar, Hazel Dollar, Grace Dollar and Johann Poulsen. The Grace Dollar and Johann Poulsen have left for the Sound, the Harold Dollar is at Chemainus loading lumber and the Hazel Dollar shifted at noon to the C. P. R. wharf.

PUEBLA IN PORT.

With California freight for this port the American steamer City of Puebla, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, arrived at the outer docks about 2 o'clock this afternoon from San Francisco. She carried freight only. After discharging the Puebla will proceed to Seattle.

SCHOONER DEFIANCE FIXED.

Hind, Rolph & Co. have chartered the American schooner Defiance for a voyage from the North Pacific, with lumber either to Australia, or New Zealand. The charter rate of the 55-ton schooner is $30 per thousand feet.

SEATTLE YACHTSMEN

CHARTER C.P.R. BOAT

Mary Will Carry Private Party to Jervis Inlet and Campbell River

Puget Sound yachtsmen will invade British Columbia waters in force this week end when fully one hundred pleasure-craft navigators will make a cruise up the coast aboard the C. P. R. steamer Princess Mary. It was announced at the offices of the B. C. Coast Service this morning that the Princess Mary had been chartered for an excursion by Seattle yachting men.

An effort was made to secure the Princess Sophia for the excursion, but as this vessel was not available the Princess Mary was decided upon as the most suitable steamer to accommodate the select excursion party. The itinerary of the Princess Mary will include numerous ports of call on the east coast of Vancouver Island en route to Jervis Inlet and Campbell River, to which places thousands of fishing enthusiasts are attracted each season.

The Princess Mary, Capt. Brown, will leave Victoria on Friday for Seattle, and after embarking the invitation party, will steam up the coast, returning to the Sound on Monday. A large number of Seattle's most prominent yachtsmen will be included in the excursion party.

HEAT CAUSED MANY DEATHS ON DONGELA

London, Aug. 8.—The Peninsular & Oriental liner Dongela has arrived at Bombay from Bazarra, Asiatic Turkey, serving as a hospital ship, and reports 130 cases of heatstroke during the voyage. Of these seventeen were fatal, and there were five other deaths which probably were caused by the heat. The voyage was made under trying conditions, since it was necessary to turn the ship frequently as the wind shifted for the purpose of ventilating the wards.

KEEN CONTESTS IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Players Must Be on Time or Game Will Go by Default

The second week of the Red Cross tournament, the tennis event of the season, began yesterday afternoon with a continuation of the delightful weather that has been enjoyed since the opening day. The matches on the whole were well contested. In the ladies' singles, Mrs. B. P. Schwengers defeated Miss Appleby in two sets, the last set going 7-5. Lindsay and Clute had a hard match with McKenzle and Yates, only securing the first set by 8-6. The mixed doubles produced the best match of the day between Miss Appleby and Tuckwell and Miss Ross and York, the former pair winning out after three sets, two of them going to draw. In the men's singles Martin also had a long struggle with Dr. Higgins, taking the three sets to settle it.

From this on the games will be closer than ever, and as will be seen from the draw for to-day a number of matches will be keenly fought and good tennis will be the order of the day. Few of the matches worth seeing will be the mixed doubles between Mrs. B. P. Schwengers and Conrad Schwengers vs. Mr. and Mrs. Clute, the ladies' doubles between Mrs. Broome and Miss Appleby vs. Miss Rickaby and Miss Hudson, also Miss Idiens and Miss Kilpatrick vs. Miss Lawson and Miss Wolfenden. Two men's doubles that should be worth seeing will be Gurney and Ryall against Garnett and Brown, and Schwengers and Walton against Cicerio and Wilson. The men's singles between Archibald and McQuade, Lindsay and Sproule, Clute and Davis and Hudson and Leeming should all be productive of close matches. The consolation singles have a number of interesting games scheduled, and the interest in this event is quite keen. The draw for to-day's game is published below. The committee have no option but to default games if contestants are not on the ground at the time set. They have endeavored as far as it has been possible to meet the desires of contestants to play matches at mutually convenient hour and days, but they deplore it known that they cannot at this late date do any more of it.

Yesterday's Results.
Ladies' singles—Mrs. Schwengers beat Miss Appleby, 6-4, 7-5; Mrs. Broome beat Miss J. Wootton, 6-0, 6-0; Miss Idiens beat Miss Neame, 6-0, 6-3.
Men's singles—Fairbairn beat Gurney, 6-0, 6-1; Martin beat Dr. Higgins, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1; Sproule beat J. G. Brown, 6-1, 6-4. Sproule won the junior championship last year and is one of the Victoria club's coming players.
Mixed doubles—Miss Lawson and Humphries beat Miss Clayton and Davis, 6-2, 6-1; Miss Appleby and Tuckwell beat Miss Ross and York, 7-9, 6-2, 7-5.

Men's doubles—Schwengers and Walton beat Barnacle and Sparks, 6-3, 6-2; Lindsay and Clute beat McKenzle and Yates, 8-6, 6-3; Brown and Heyland beat Robertson and Edwards by default; Cicerio and Wilson beat Brown and Heyland, 6-2, 7-5.
Men's consolation singles—White beat Davenport by default; Forbes beat Case, 3-6, 6-4, 8-6; McIndoe beat Simpson, 6-1, 6-4; Harper beat Flett, 6-0, 6-7; Heyland beat Cicerio, 6-2, 6-3.

HUGHIE JENNINGS LET SHOCKER GO

Tiger Manager Thought His Fast Ball Was Not Fast Enough

There is one big league manager who must feel put out over the splendid showing being made by Pitcher Urban Shocker, the former Canadian league pitcher. That is Hughie Jennings, pilot of the Detroit Tigers. Hughie had Shocker twice, but let him go, thinking he was not of big league calibre.

A. John Roessink, who managed the S. & S. team, playing at Mack park, Detroit, for several seasons, deserves the credit for bringing Shocker to notice, and getting him into major league society. Shocker's first work of any moment was with the Windsor team, of the Border League, for which he was catcher. He could hit and field, and also was a good utility man, and was used in various positions. Finally, in a pinch, he went in to pitch. He made good, and from that time was a star.

Being a wise and watchful person, Roessink grabbed Shocker for himself. He made him his chief pitcher in 1913, and Shocker led the S. & S. team to the Detroit city championship. Roessink tipped Shocker to President Navin, of Detroit, as a youngster worth watching. He was sent to Fort Wayne, Ind., with a string attached. Fort Wayne was overstocked with twirlers, and Shocker was transferred to Ottawa, in the Canadian League.

Detroit covered him up, and in 1915 he was sent back to Ottawa. Freddie Payne, former Detroit backstop, went to Ottawa that season, and handled and helped to develop the youngster. Detroit let him claim to be the pitcher, because of adverse reports from scouts, and from players of its own team who batted against Shocker, these claiming that his fast ball was not good enough. Incidentally, they still insist that this will be proved once he gets into major league society. After his successful 1915 season, Detroit, Cleveland and New York, of the American League, and Brooklyn Nationals, went after him. New York won, Donovan took him south, but sent him to Toronto shortly after the season started. Bill had a bunch of veteran pitchers that he decided would give him better service. Detroit was one of four clubs that refused to waive when New York wished to send Shocker away, but all finally were induced to let him go. Since then Shocker has walked through the international league.

No wonder Jennings doesn't like to hear Shocker's name!

DONALD SMITH ENLISTS

Prominent Eastern Lacrosse and Hockey Star Joins the Ranks.

Donald Smith, the Eastern lacrosse and hockey star, has enlisted with the artillery at Kingston and will leave for the front with his battery in a short time. Smith is well known on the coast, having played hockey with Victoria the first year the coast league was organized. The last few seasons Smith has been a member of the Canadians, of Montreal, which team won the Eastern championship and the Stanley cup last winter. Smith, being a Cornwal boy, is also a lacrosse player and has played with the Tecumsehs, of Toronto, and the Montreal Shamrocks since leaving the Cornwal Colts. Donald's brother, Guy, also a prominent lacrosse player, enlisted over a year ago.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX BUY "BRICK" ELDRED

"Brick" Eldred, the Seattle fielder, who is leading the Northwestern League in batting, will go to the Chicago White Sox at the end of the season.

President Dugdale, of the Giants, received word from President Comiskey yesterday afternoon that the proposition of the Seattle club had been accepted. Details of the deal were not given out further than that it was conditional on the showing made by Eldred with the White Sox.

Eldred was secured from Salt Lake City in exchange for infielder Frank Guinn. Charley Doyle, who played with the Tacoma-Tigers a good many years ago, recommended Eldred to Salt Lake, but when the season started the regulars were going so strong "Brick" could not wedge in. Salt Lake wanted an infielder and so let Eldred come to Seattle. He is fast and hits a ball hard.

POLLOK EXPLAINS MINNESOTA AFFAIR

Freddy Welsh's Manager Says
That Boxing Commission
Acted in Arbitrary Manner

The controversy between Freddy Welsh and Harry Pollok, on the one side, and the Minnesota boxing commission on the other, has reached the stage of acrimonious dispute, and so far as the world's lightweight championship is concerned, he has firmly resolved to have nothing further to do with promoters of the Gopher state. Welsh takes the view that he was the victim of arbitrary rulings by the Minnesota board. The dispute, according to Welsh, was one that could have been easily straightened out and it would not have been necessary to go to the extreme of cancelling the Welsh-White match.

The whole trouble was due to the fact that the man the commission wanted to accept as referee was prejudiced against the champion. Manager Pollok says in discussing the affair: "We were not arbitrary in the matter. Why, the afternoon of the day scheduled for the battle we informed the Minnesota commissioners that we would take any referee, either in or out of the state, except the one man, Bill Hoke, whom the commission had attempted to force us to take. Hoke, but reports came to us that Hoke was making remarks disparaging to Welsh and for that reason we felt that he was prejudiced. There are other competent referees in Minnesota and any one of them would have been acceptable to us. I told the commission of our stand in plenty of time for the dispute to be settled so that the match could go on, but when the commission refused to meet us half way there was nothing left for us to do but protect our own interests. Welsh had too much at stake to take a chance with an unfriendly referee."

Concerning the charges that have since come out to the effect that Welsh and White had conspired to give only an exhibition instead of a real fight, Pollok said he stands ready to pay a substantial sum to any one who can show that the champion ever stalled in a contest, or did not put forth his best efforts. "Ever since Welsh won the title he has been the target of bitter abuse," continued Pollok. "He has been criticized for not defending his championship in decision battles, but I defy anyone to show that Freddie ever turned down a legitimate offer for a title match. When Freddie won the title he did not receive a cent for his end. After he became champion he naturally placed a value on his services and as his terms, up until recently, were never met, Freddie would not accept a championship bout."

"Now, a syndicate at Denver has promised us a guarantee for a twenty-round decision match between Welsh and White early in September, and we will go through with that match. Articles have been signed, and forfeits will be posted, and as far as we are concerned, the match is a fixture. I don't know that White, and of this we have little doubt, the champion will always be ready to defend his title against any challenger the promoters select, and this sweeping offer includes every boxer who will make 125 pounds."

CALIFORNIANS WIN IN SEATTLE TOURNAMENT

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 8.—California players won easily in the opening day's play of the Washington State tennis tournament, here yesterday. The effort to stage the game seems to depend upon the hand book men, who are willing to take up the "oral betting" system. The recent success of the revival meet in Chicago has encouraged St. Louisians to hold the meet.

Seattle favorites also were successful in every case, H. Kelleher defeating Manuel Smith, 6-4, 6-3; and Sam Russell, another local favorite, winning from Brown, 6-3, 6-3, while Laisner won from Prince, the strong Tacoma entry, 6-4, 6-1. John Strachan and Wm. Fulton met to-day in what is expected to be a best match of the day.

TOMMY BURNS IS THROUGH AS BOXER

Former Heavyweight Champion, However, is Willing to Fight Flynn

Tommy Burns, former world's heavyweight champion, was a Seattle visitor yesterday, bound for a business trip through the Northwest. He expects to return here for a long stay within a few days. Tommy laughs at reports that he is going to re-enter the ring, but admits that he has been in training, and that he has brought his weight down to 190. He looks to be in fine condition and says that if a match could be arranged with Porky Flynn he would be the first to sign the articles.

According to Tommy, long-distance fighting in New Orleans has been spoiled by the tendency of the modern fighters to sign up for ten-round bouts, where there is little danger of losing any titles or reputation that they may possess. He has closed out his interest in New Orleans, but may go back later on.

BREEZY BITS

Arthur Hofman, former star of the Chicago Nationals, who has been conducting a baseball school for boys, recently left for Detroit to join the New York American League team.

The Chicago White Sox have just finished two four-game series with the Athletics, one in Chicago and the other in Philadelphia, in which they made a clean sweep of all the games.

Harry Anderson, the Vancouver lightweight, meets George Ingle at the Elk's smoker in Seattle to-night.

The Cleveland Indians are sticking up in the race despite the absence of Speaker from their line-up.

Newsy Lalonde has a big lead among the goal getters of the N. L. U. Strange to say, while Shamrocks lead the loop they have no sensational goal batters. All their men on the home side of centre can score.

PLAYERS SUSPENDED.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Chester Thomas, the Boston Americans' catcher, and Jimmy Austin, third baseman of the St. Louis Americans, were indefinitely suspended yesterday by President Johnson for their participation in a fist fight at St. Louis Sunday.

LACROSSE MEN TO MEET TO-NIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Victoria lacrosse enthusiasts to-night in Hissell's clothing store, Douglas street, when further arrangements for the patriotic lacrosse game to be played September 2 will be discussed. The players have been turning out in large numbers to practice and meetings as well, and a large attendance is expected at to-night's gathering. Arrangements are progressing favorably for the match races, and it is expected that a definite announcement will be made in the course of a day or two in regard to these events. There will be another practice at the Royal Athletic Park to-morrow night at 6 o'clock, and the largest turn-out of the season is expected.

SENATORS ARE AFTER FORMER TORONTO MAN

The Ottawa Free Press says: "Despite the gloomy outlook for a continuation of professional hockey here next winter, the Ottawa club will make overtures shortly for the services of Cy Denneny, the great scoring wing of Eddie Livingstone's Blue Shirts. Denneny came here this spring to play lacrosse, and to all intents and purposes is permanently located in the capital. He is credited with the statement he doesn't intend to return to Toronto the coming winter whether he plays hockey or not. If the Ottawas acquire him, his presence will add a much needed punch to the Senators' shooting division, for Cy is an extra good goal getter."

BODIE INCREASES AVERAGE.

San Francisco, Aug. 8.—"Ping" Bodie, San Francisco outfielder, induced the Salt Lake pitchers to help him fatten his batting average, in the series just ended by hitting the ball wherever they threw it and as a result he still heads the Pacific Coast League as its premier batsman with a percentage of .339. So far Bodie has almost made a habit of outbating the league. "Buddy" Ryan, of Salt Lake, averaged second ten points behind Bodie.

Schaller, of San Francisco, leads the run-getters with a total of eighty-two tallies, while Daley, of Vernon, with twenty-eight stolen bases, held the sack-gathering championship.

DEPUTY HEAD OF COMMISSION VISITS

J. White Here Regarding Forest Conservation; Fish Offal Disposal

James White, F.R.S.C., assistant to the chairman, and deputy head of the Commission of Conservation, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to meet Mr. Whitford and Mr. Craig, who are just completing their report dealing with the work of forest conservation in British Columbia. This report will be a full statement of the value of the timber of this province, and will no doubt contain many vitally important suggestions with regard to conservation and development.

One of the objects of Mr. White's visit on the present occasion is to meet officials of the provincial government with regard to the question of finding some use for fish offal, to turn it into a revenue producing substance. He points to the large amount of waste under the present system, and says the object is to ascertain whether it is possible to establish an industry so that the refuse can be utilized in some way and placed as a manufactured product on the market.

Mr. White laid emphasis on the point that before going ahead with a scheme of that character it would be necessary to demonstrate whether the undertaking would be profitable one. That, he said, was the first consideration. "If it is shown that the offal can not be used so as to show a profit at the end of the year, then the undertaking will not be proceeded with, but if it is shown beyond a doubt that a profit can be made, then you may take it from me that there will be established the necessary plant to go ahead with the work and this, we hope, will be the means of doing away with the heavy waste that is going on just now."

To illustrate this waste, Mr. White showed a letter received from Williams & Robertson in the East. This disclosed a condition that is somewhat startling. This firm is one of the largest in the world dealing in the exportation of fish, handling on an average in a season 160,000 cases of canned fish and shell fish. They stated that out of 25,000,000 pounds of fish which their men had handled they could use only six and a half million pounds, and that the remainder was thrown away.

"That is the problem we have in hand," said Mr. White, "and that is the problem we must find a solution for, and we are going to find it if it is at all possible to do so."

Few people realize the wonderful value of the work of the Commission of Conservation, which is being done at a minimum cost to the country. At the present time the commission is engaged upon a number of works which will follow the war. For instance, Thomas Adams, the celebrated town planning expert, who was here recently, is advising municipalities; Professor J. W. Robertson is investigating the question of labor and economics and technical training, while W. Dick, mining engineer, is examining the possibilities of the metal industries of Canada, with a view of substituting Canadian products in certain lines for those which have been formerly obtained in Germany, and for the manufacture of which Canada has an abundance of raw material. One instance of the work of the commission may be mentioned, as having an important bearing on forest protection. The regulations with regard to fire protection through the Board of Railway Commissioners are unworkable, and as impossible to conduct effectively, yet they have been carried through and administered with remarkable success to the greatest satisfaction not only of the public but of the companies.

HON. E. DEWDNEY DIES SUDDENLY

Passes Away Shortly Before Noon at Home in This City

FORMER LIEUT. GOVERNOR OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Was Minister of Interior in Sir John A. Macdonald's Cabinet

The death occurred this morning at 11 o'clock of the Hon. Edgar Dewdney, former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, and one of the pioneer residents of the district. Death was very sudden, and came as a great shock to his relatives and friends. Although he had a serious illness just a little less than a year ago and had been in feeble health since then, he was able to get about and only yesterday came down town. This morning when he rose he was apparently as well as usual, and none of the household had any warning that the end was near. Death occurred at the family residence, 2840 Cadboro Bay road.

The late Edgar Dewdney, who was one of the very few remaining representatives of the "old school," was born November 5, 1835, in Devonshire, England. He was, consequently, in his eighty-second year, but to those who knew him intimately his advanced age was never apparent, so alert were all his faculties and so keen his interest in all matters of the day.

Mr. Dewdney was born in Devonshire, Eng., in 1835. He received his education in the institutions of his native country. The profession he chose was that of civil engineer, and when it came time for him to choose a field looked to Canada and the great Northwest.

The country was in its earliest infancy when, in 1859, Mr. Dewdney stepped across its threshold. He found that his conception of the opportunities offered by the new country had not been overdrawn. He was almost immediately engaged by James Douglas, afterwards Sir James Douglas, who was governor of the colony of British Columbia, and by Colonel Moody, R.E., to go at the head of a survey party which had been organized to My out the town of New Westminster. This task he accomplished most satisfactorily to all concerned and this success gave him the necessary start along the high road to fame and fortune. From the time of the completion of the survey of the New Westminster townsite he was kept busy in his professional capacity, devoting much of his time to the exploration of those portions of the province which were then little known. Socially he made many friends and almost from the beginning of his residence here he took an active interest in public affairs. Gradually he became a leader among the people and, in 1869, without very much to his surprise he was elected to the legislature. This proved to be but the commencement of a long list of public honors. In 1872, following the absorption of the province by the Dominion, Mr. Dewdney was returned to the House of Commons. There he became one of the most ardent and most valued supporters of Sir John Macdonald. During the five years of Sir John's opposition Mr. Dewdney formed one of the famous "Old Guard," remaining in that post until 1879.

In the early part of that year Mr. Dewdney was made Indian commissioner for the Northwest Territories, and in December, 1881, he was given the additional post of lieutenant-governor of the Northwest. He held the two positions conjointly.

In August, 1888, in succession to the late Hon. Thomas White, Mr. Dewdney was called to the cabinet as minister of the interior and superintendent of Indian affairs. It was during his term in the Northwest that the rebellion of 1885, under the half-breed Louis Riel, took place, and it has been stated by those who knew at the time that it was the personal influence which Mr. Dewdney exercised over certain of the Indian tribes during that troublesome time that held them in check and made them strong allies of the federal government.

When Sir John Macdonald died and Sir John Abbott took his place the latter paid his tribute to Mr. Dewdney's worth by retaining him in his position in the cabinet. Mr. Dewdney held the portfolio of minister of the interior and superintendent of Indian affairs until October 18, 1892, when he retired from the cabinet.

In the following November he was appointed to the important post of Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia. His term of office lasted until November 15, 1897.

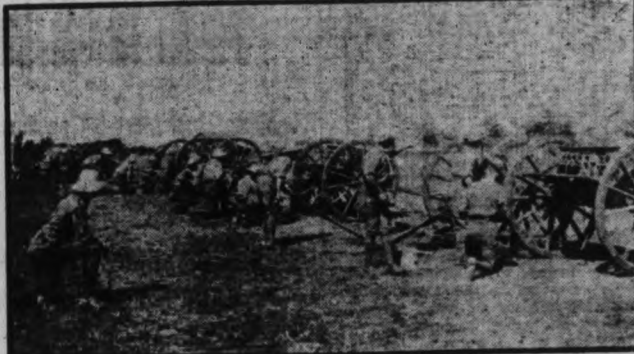

The late Mr. Dewdney was twice married, his first wife being Jane Shaw Moir, daughter of Stratton Moir, a tea-planter, of Colombo, who died in 1906. His second wife is the daughter of the late Colonel C. T. Vismey-Tynte, of Haleswill Brigadier, Somerset, who survives him. Besides the widow there are two nephews, E. L. Dewdney, of New Denver, and Walter Dewdney, of Greenwood, and a niece.

The funeral will probably take place on Friday morning.

"John," said the nervous woman. "I believe there is a burglar in the house. Shall I telephone for the police?" "Yes, And in the meantime let's be quiet and not scare him away. There is a brand new policeman on this beat and I think it would interest him to see a real burglar."—Washington Star.

ROBERT WATKIN MILLS CHERNIAVSKY TRIO TO GIVE RECITAL ANNOUNCE CONCERT

Red Cross to Benefit From Concert by Great English Singer

Robert Watkin Mills, whose name is well known in the musical world and to the concert-going public, has very generously consented to give a recital in aid of the Esquimalt branch of the Red Cross Society during his visit in the city. Arrangements are practically complete for a concert to be held in the Empress ballroom on the evening of Friday, August 18, when the great English baritone will sing several groups of songs by representative composers.

The announcement is very gratifying to his numerous admirers and friends in the city, and it is a foregone conclusion that the house will be sold out well in advance. No more popular cause could have been chosen as a beneficiary of the recital, as there is not a resident of the city who is not in favor of the Red Cross. The entire proceeds of the concert will be given to this deserving fund.

Besides the renowned baritone, whose programme will include "The Alone Charming," "Ruddier Than the Cherry," "The Last Call," "Somersetshire" and other classic and popular songs, there will be numbers by Mrs. J. R. Green and Miss Eva Hart. The former will contribute pianoforte selections, "March from the Ruins of Athens," Liszt's fourth Rhapsody, a Chopin waltz. The latter will sing.

OAK BAY AVENUE

Two Petitions Will Be Circulated Among Owners: City Loan Funds.

Two petitions in connection with Oak Bay avenue resurfacing were ordered to be circulated among owners by the city council at a private meeting last evening, at which a confidential report on the tangle was read from the city solicitor.

One petition suggests an attempt to get the owners to sign for the fair and equitable basis of the conference some weeks ago, in which the city would accept the liability for the portion of the old by-law where the work was badly done, and the owners take responsibility for the remainder of the expenditure. The other would reach a new basis for the laying of the surfacing on the top of the old base, with a modified policy of payment for the outlay. Before the petitions are circulated, however, the details are to be carefully drafted so that the owners will see at a glance what liability they will have to bear.

The gradual disappearance of the loan amounts remaining from the years of construction activity is shown in the last monthly statement of the city comptroller. There is now about $51,000 remaining on the sewer loan, $23,000 for waterworks distribution, and $44,000 for schools, with a few minor appropriations for Rock Bay bridge, and similar items. How closely the cost of the police building was figured out will appear when it is mentioned only about a dollar remains to the credit of the loan. Probably, however, the city got more value out of the $70,000 spent on the building than on a similar amount on any other municipal structure of recent years.

No statement has hitherto been made public of the revenue of the city from miscellaneous sources for the half year ending June 30, to show whether the estimated figures have been sustained. However, the 1916 totals were taken at a lower basis than those of 1915, and therefore although there are a number of decreases known, the aggregate decline will not be large.

Mrs. J. R. Green and her small daughter left this afternoon for a few days' visit at Cowichan Bay, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Godfrey Booth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson and Miss M. Grayson, of Moose Jaw, are visiting at 1564 Fernwood road. They will leave tomorrow for Seattle and proceed to Vancouver for the week end.

E. J. Townsley, of Simcoe street, who for the past ten years has been employed by Weller's Ltd., has severed his connection with that firm to accept the management of the crockery and hardware departments of the A. E. Rea departmental store, Ottawa. Mr. Townsley, who was very popular among the younger set, carries with him the best wishes for success in his new field.

HIBBEN CUP WILL BE AWARDED AGAIN

Competition Will Be Revived; New Method of Awarding Trophy

The Hibben cup is once more to appear among the public school trophies of the city. This cup, donated by Mrs. T. Napier Hibben, was formerly awarded on the result of the High School entrance examination, and for other distinctions, but the method of selection did not prove popular and for some years no award has been made.

It has not been easy to secure a basis of determining the award which would be acceptable to the various schools, but what is now proposed is to give the trophy to the school having the highest percentage of marks on the first twenty pupils successful in the High School entrance examination.

As these marks have now been published, the sheets will be examined and an award made this year upon them. The idea of the above named basis is that it will promote efficiency in the schools, not by awarding the trophy on some clever pupils' work, but on an average of the best candidates, which gives the smaller graded school a chance and averages the marks over a number of pupils. In a school where more than one division sat for the entrance examination, the 20 best candidates will be selected, irrespective of the division from which they entered.

The presentation of the cup will be made in the opening exercises of the coming term. During the summer recess the grounds of the Margaret Jenkins school have been graded, and considerably improved. Owing to the low situation at Hollywood, considerable drainage has been necessary. The brush has been cleared from the unoccupied portion of the site which will be made use of as a playground.

ARION CLUB CONCERT

Open-Air Entertainment in Aid of the Red Cross Society to Be Held on Thursday.

Arrangements are completed for the concert which the Arion club are giving in aid of the funds of the Red Cross Society on Thursday evening. There will be a good moon, and the excellent programme which the club is providing, supplemented by numbers Mrs. J. Macdonald Fahey has kindly consented to give, should prove a great drawing card.

The concert is to take place from the steps of the government buildings, and an audience in such beautiful surroundings could not fail to enjoy itself. By kind permission of Lieut.-Col. Angus, the band of the 5th Regiment will play from 7.45 to 8.30, when the Arion club concert will commence. The public works department has kindly promised that the buildings will be illuminated, and a number of young ladies of the Red Cross Society will pass among the audience with their collection boxes and ask for contributions for the work. Most of those who go will remember the very enjoyable evening given by the Arion club at the same place in July last year, and the Red Cross committee greatly appreciate the kind offer of this pioneer chorus society to repeat the event this year.

JAPANESE ACCUSED OF CHEQUE FORGERIES

Two Counts Against Prisoner; Sequel to Previous Incident

Some days ago E. K. Takahashi, a well-groomed Japanese about 40 years of age, arrived at the Windsor hotel. When he came to pay his bill, he tendered a cheque for $25 on which appears the name of K. Ishii, a well-known Japanese merchant of this city, which is alleged to be forged. Upon that charge, and in connection with a cheque for $12.50 purporting to be drawn by a man named McAdams in favor of Frederic Neern, which he gave to Ishida, a Japanese resident at 436 Chatham street, he is now in custody, and will be brought before the magistrate to-morrow, charged with forgery.

On searching the prisoner two cheque forms of the Bank of Montreal, both filled in for amounts of $42 and $8, were found.

The description of the man answers to that of a cheque thief of whom warning was given to the police on March 16 by K. Kumai & Co. It was stated then that their Seattle office had been entered, and 37 cheques of the Oriental Trading company were missing. These cheques were signed, but the body of the forms had not been filled up. It was stated then that two cheques for $40 and $80 had been cashed in Victoria by some person.

Takahashi the police state, used the regular cheque forms which may be obtained by the public in any bank office, and filled in the names of prominent people before endorsing them.

MOVE TO WILLOWS.

The 50th Gordon Highlanders have moved into camp at the Willows and will be located there until further orders. This regiment has been doing guard duty for many months, but it is expected that authorization will be given very soon for it to recruit for overseas service.

A SOLDIER'S PRAYER.

Great God of Hosts and Lord of Lords, Protect our homes from foreign swords; Keep red destruction's flames afar; While mustering nations rush to war.

Grant Thy strong arm to aid the might Of those who battle for the right; Against the lawless tyrant's sway, And guard them in the deadly fray.

Be with us through the shock of fight, When thousands sink to endless night; And shattered columns backward reel Before the tides of reddening steel.

Protect the widow's drooping head And guard the helpless orphan's bed; Be with the vanquished and the slain, To cleanse their souls from sin's dark stain.

Be with us in the victory's hour, Lest, drunk with lust of pride and power, We hail ambition as our God, And fail to heed the chast'ning rod.

Great God of Hosts and King of Kings, Above us spread Thy sheltering wings; Till war's red fields are clothed with grain, And peace returns to earth again.

GORIZIA BRIDGEHEAD AN IMPORTANT GAIN

News of Capture by Italians
Creates Great Satisfaction in Rome

Rome, Aug. 8.—The announcement that the Gorizia bridgehead had been captured by Italian troops was received with manifestations of the most intense satisfaction here. It marks the most important step yet achieved in the counter offensive launched by the Italian army after the failure of the Austrian offensive and the beginning of the sweeping Russian gains in Galicia and Volhynia.

The Gorizia bridgehead was one of the most important defensive positions of the Austrians along the Isonzo front. It was the scene of heavy fighting in the early months of the year, when the Italians after making considerable advances, finally came to a halt along the Isonzo line.

Gorizia is 22 miles northwest of Trieste, one of the principal objectives of the Italian campaign, Gorizia being regarded as the key to that position. One of the first acts of the Italians after the war began was to throw a strong force of infantry and cavalry across the Austro-Hungarian frontier, and occupy a stretch of territory along the Isonzo. They captured several towns, but the Austrian positions, naturally strong, had been heavily fortified and progress was slow. The fighting along the Isonzo continued until December. Since that time there has been only sporadic activity on this front until the last few days.

On Friday of last week the Italians opened a new attack, and although the authorities at Rome have permitted but few details to become known, it has been intimated that an important campaign was being launched. The first notable results were obtained when the Italian troops made considerable progress in the Maficcone sector. Gorizia is the principal city of the Isonzo valley, with a population of about 33,000.

STREET CAR SITUATION IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Aug. 8.—Normal service on the most important surface street car lines in Manhattan and the Bronx was resumed to-day after having been partially interrupted by strikes of motormen and conductors, beginning about two weeks ago and culminating Friday night last in a walkout of the men employed by the New York Railway Company. About 1,200 employees of this company and of the Third Avenue Railway system are affected by the settlement agreed upon yesterday by the directors and officials and the men after conference with Mayor Mitchell.

By the terms of agreement the right of employees to organize is conceded and the two companies promise to treat with committees of their employees in considering grievances. A demand for increased wages will be discussed by committees not later than August 30 and if they fail to agree the controversy will be submitted to arbitration.

Strikes by the employees of the Second Avenue, Queens and Staten Island street railway systems have not yet been adjusted, but the men believe they will be granted concessions similar to those given the other lines.

St. Louis, Aug. 8.—George Kimball Smith, agent for lumber manufacturers, fell or jumped from a fifteenth-story window in the Postmen's Bank building here to-day. CONSTANTINE MAKES DANGLIS A VICTIM

Removes Him as Aide-de-Camp Because He Supports Venizelos

Athens, Aug. 8.—General Panoyotis Dangelis, former minister of war, chief of the general staff during the first Balkan war and credited with being one of the inventors of the famous French three-inch gun, has been removed from his post as royal aide-de-camp by King Constantine.

General Dangelis was minister of war in the Venizelos cabinet of 1915, which resigned on October 5 of that year. An Athens dispatch on July 24 told of his election as president of a league formed by adherents of former Premier Venizelos to counteract the effect of anti-Venizelos leagues among the demobilized Greek reservists.

ITALIANS CAPTURED 10,000 AUSTRIANS DURING TWO DAYS

London, Aug. 8.—Austrians still are surrendering by the thousands as a result of the Italian operations, says a Central News dispatch from Rome. More than 10,000 prisoners have been captured in two days, the dispatch adds.

END OF V. W. HORWOOD'S EVIDENCE AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—The close of V. W. Horwood's evidence at the trial of Sir Rodmond Roblin, George R. Caldwell and James H. Howden, former provincial cabinet ministers, is now in sight on the fourteenth day of the trial and the eleventh day the former provincial architect has been in the witness box. A. J. Andrews, K.C., expects to conclude to-day his cross-examination for the defence, and it is stated that the re-examination by the crown counsel will not be lengthy.

Mr. Andrews dealt with many points in his questions this forenoon. Horwood declared in answer to one question that he was "not as clever a man as Kelly," and added that he himself was "a very stupid man."

"You are fencing with me when I am trying to get the truth out of you. You are showing great cleverness and cunning," replied Mr. Andrews.

"I am telling the truth and you know it," retorted the witness.

"I know you have lied from start to finish," said counsel hotly.

Crown counsel objected. Horwood repeated his previous evidence, that Contractor Kelly had given him what the witness called the "false" calson tender at $44,000 and that he had left it forgotten in his desk until Kelly had asked for it after the public accounts committee of the legislature had met. Witness said that his solicitor, Harry Whitla, later had told him Sir Rodmond Roblin and Mr. Howden "went on their knees" to get it. "The whole bunch of you were scared to death up here," the witness told Mr. Andrews, who remarked on Horwood's "threats and venom." Horwood said Kelly had told him he should show the tender to his minister, but he had not done this.

Horwood admitted that one of the letters he had marked "destroy" was perfectly fair and proper. It was from the late Hon. W. H. Montague to Horwood and declared that in the steel contracts the government would pay a fair price and no more.

FATE OF SISTER OF SUBMARINE DEUTSCHLAND

Baltimore, Aug. 8.—When shown the dispatch from Rome stating that the German submarine Bremen had been sunk, following failure of her engines, Henry G. Hilken, head of the Eastern Forwarding Company, this afternoon stated he had no knowledge of the Berliner Tageblatt publishing such a report, but that if the paper had made such a statement, it possibly was true.

A SERUM TO CURE INFANTILE PARALYSIS

New York, Aug. 8.—Twelve persons who have recovered from attacks of infantile paralysis have volunteered to give quantities of their blood to be used in the preparation of serum for the treatment of the disease, as the result of an appeal for volunteers in fighting the epidemic. Sufficient blood was taken from two of the volunteers to treat nine cases. The health commission again has appealed to physicians and laymen to cooperate in causing the collection of as much serum as possible. Dr. Haven Emerson, the commissioner, said that patients have been treated with serum from communists and the results have been so satisfactory that he will continue. He declared that the physicians are not yet in a position to say the serum has proved its curative value, but its use has been such as to justify a careful trial.

AUSTRIA, HUNGARY, WILL SEPARATE SOON

Significance of Move by Hungarian Opposition Led by Karolyi

London, Aug. 8.—The Morning Post's correspondent at Budapest, dealing with the efforts to be made by Count Karolyi to separate the Austrian and Hungarian armies so that Hungary can sue for a separate peace, says: "The crux of the whole movement is the question of peace."

"Without a separate army nothing can be done, whereas with one, Hungary not only can make peace, but also can get the upper hand of Austria. In Hungary it is realized there is nothing to gain and everything to lose by a continuation of hostilities, and the question now is whether to lose everything or try to save something. The opposition, under Karolyi, knows, as everybody in the country knows, although nobody dares say it, that Hungary cannot continue the war indefinitely. Another year of the war will see the whole nation starved, bankrupt and nearly all its men killed or crippled."

"Everyone also knows the entente powers are determined to go on for years if necessary and will talk peace only when Germany is on her knees, suing for it. They believe Germany, too, can go on for years, but the dual monarchy can not, and they believe Germany will press the dual monarchy out to desert her. They know Austria will be a ready vassal to Germany and accede to Germany's wishes, even at a price which Hungary can not pay—even if it means the sacrifice of the whole Hungarian nation."

"This is what the Hungarian opposition wishes to avoid and it urges, therefore, that it is absolutely necessary that the nation command its own military forces and withdraws from whenever the Hungarian nation sees fit, rather than when the Austrian military party thinks such a step desirable."

The Hungarian diet is to reassemble to-morrow and Count Karolyi will launch his effort, supported by his followers, almost immediately.

UNITED STATES MEETS CARRANZA'S SUGGESTION

Washington, Aug. 8.—The administration has decided to agree to General Carranza's suggestion in his last note for the discussion of points of difference between the United States and Mexico by a commission of six members, and this has been agreed to by the American representatives. This will be done on the understanding that after the points proposed by Carranza are disposed of, other questions will be taken up.

Washington, Aug. 8.—H. A. Dunn, an American employee of the Mexico Street Railway & Light Company, charged with having sold dynamite to Zapata bandits, has been released from jail, but is to be deported as an undesirable foreigner.

Manager Fulton, of the company, a Canadian, arrested with Dunn, whose release previously has been reported, also is to be deported. The state department received such advice to-day from Special Agent Rodgers.

GERMANS TO APPEAL CASE OF S. S. APPAM

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 8.—Counsel for the German government in the case of the steamship Appam, which was awarded to her British owners by a recent decision of Judge Waddell in the United States district court here, to-day filed a formal petition for appeal to the supreme court, which was allowed. A supersedeas bond for $2,000,000 required by the court was given, signed by Lieut. Hans Berg, the prize master who brought the vessel in, and L. M. von Schilling, German consul. It was furnished by five American bonding companies, who divided a premium of $20,000.

MAKE RECORD RUN TO SUMMIT OF PIKE'S PEAK

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 8.—From Colorado Springs to the summit of Pike's Peak, a distance of 30½ miles in 45 minutes, was the record run made by Hugh Hughes, the English pilot racer, and A. E. Hayes, a local newspaperman, early this morning. A rise of 6,100 feet, the difference between the elevation of Colorado Springs and the summit, was overcome on the trip, which was made without mishap of any kind. The trip was made by way of Manitou and the new Pike's Peak highway.

DROWNED WHILE CANOEING.

Quebec, Aug. 8.—While canoeing yesterday evening at St. Germain, de Grantham, County of Drummond, four persons were drowned. The dead are Miss Simmonds Laforte, aged 15 years; Miss Marquette, aged 13; Miss Jeanne Morin, aged 14, and R. T. Rharant, who was a student at Nicolet College.

DISLODGE ENEMY ON FRONT IN GALICIA

Russians Hurl Austro-Germans Back on Front of Fifteen Miles

DISORDERLY FLIGHT; CAVALRY IN PURSUIT

Petrograd, Aug. 8.—An official statement issued this evening says: "On the river Sereth (south of Brody, in Northern Galicia) our troops are advancing successfully and fortifying themselves in the captured positions. The total number of prisoners taken in these battles from the 5th to the 6th of August amounts to 166 officers and 8,415 men. Four cannon, 19 machine guns, 11 trench mortars, a large number of mine-throwers and much other war material also were captured."

"On the line of the river Stockhod (in Volhynia, farther north) in the region of the town of Stodyscov, a party of Austrians left their defences during the night and came forward with uplifted hands toward the positions occupied by one of our regiments. The battalion commander, Colonel Stehaneko, as he approached the Austrians, was treacherously killed by them. Our riflemen killed the whole party of Austrians."

"South of the Dniester our troops, taking the offensive on a front of about 25 versts (15 miles), in the direction of Tymienica, broke into the enemy's trenches and engaged the enemy during the pursuit. Owing to the irresistible onslaughts of our brave troops the enemy was driven back along the whole line and we captured the town of Tlumach, including the region east of the Dniester and a ridge of heights."

"Southwest of the Kolomea-Stanislav railway our attack was preceded by artillery fire and the discharge of chemical gas shells on the enemy's batteries. The enemy's artillerymen, owing to the gas we set free, ceased firing and abandoned their arms. Our cavalry pursued the enemy, who fled in disorder. One of our gallant divisions took 2,000 German prisoners during these engagements and captured several heavy calibre guns and many machine guns. Prisoners continue to arrive in large parties. Their total number is not yet known."

"In this way the gallant troops of General Potchitzky again attained an important success."

ROGERS WILL TOUR TO SEE PUBLIC WORKS

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—On the return of Sir Robert Borden to the capital, Hon. Robert Rogers, who is acting prime minister, will make his annual tour of inspection of federal public works. First he will visit the maritime provinces and then Quebec, Ontario and the west, in the order named. While few new public works are being inaugurated, many large contracts, such as the Courtenay Bay improvement scheme, the Quebec, Toronto harbor, Vancouver and Victoria harbor works are being carried out.

BRITAIN ASKS FOR CANADIAN OFFICERS

Room for Several Hundred Lieutenants; Matter Under Consideration at Ottawa

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—It is stated on good authority that a request has been received from the war office for the supply by Canada of several hundred supernumerary officers for subaltern commands. The war office has been particularly heavy during the present offensive and the need of such officers exceeds that for other ranks.

It is suggested that there are many supernumeraries of all ranks among the Canadian forces both here and in England. The dispatching of drafts and the consequent breaking up of battalion organizations has left many men of the higher ranks without commands, and in addition there are many officers who have never received appointments at all. It is understood that these will be given an opportunity of taking subaltern rank with the chance of almost immediate service.

Many men holding the higher ranks have little immediate hope of service and meanwhile the cost in pay is a heavy one. There are rumors that in such cases pay may be cut, whatever their choice. The disposition of the supernumeraries, however, will depend very largely upon whether further divisions are sent from Canada to the firing line or whether the present four divisions simply are kept up to strength without any addition to the numbers. If the latter course is adopted, then, of course, a large percentage of the supernumeraries, especially of the ranks of lieutenant and captain, will be absorbed. The whole matter is now under consideration.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS RECORD OF NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 8.—The intense heat and humidity which has gripped New York is coincident with another big increase in the epidemic of infantile paralysis. Only once since the plague got its start six weeks ago were there more cases than reported in today's health department bulletin. During the 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. 53 children died of the disease in the greater city and 183 new cases were reported.

There were 28 deaths and 89 cases in the borough of Brooklyn, while in Manhattan a marked increase in both fatalities and new cases was shown: 16 children dying, and 54, a record number, being stricken.

Since the epidemic began on June 25 there have been 5,347 cases and 1,193 deaths.

CHICAGO OPENED LOWER; STRONGER AT THE CLOSE

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, Aug. 8.—Lower Liverpool cables gave the wheat market a lower trend at the opening this morning. Heavy profit-taking sales followed and prices weakened. Further news from Manitoba was of a bullish character. Prof. Jackson, of the Manitoba Agricultural College, after a tour through the province, says the damage is much greater than the farmers suppose. He estimates the yield at from 20 to 25 bushels per acre and says it will grade No. 3 and 4.

Good buying later in the day gave the market a stronger close.

U. S. CROP SHRINKAGE.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Adverse conditions due to weather, plant disease and insects, damaged the country's principal farm crops during July and resulted in a loss of 105,000,000 bushels in prospective wheat production; 23,000,000 bushels in corn, and 43,000,000 bushels less in oats than predicted by the department of agriculture at the beginning of July.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—Wheat closed 1/2c higher for October, 1/2c up for December and 1/2c higher for May; oats, 1/2c lower for October and 1/2c lower for December; barley, 1/2c higher for December. All markets closed strong near the high points of the day. Till the last hour the trade was very active, with the buying a little better than the selling and the crowd waiting new damage reports. The professional also got in some work on the spreads which made quite a fair trade. The local crowd still is bullish and the buying around the opening price helped to steady the market. Cash wheat was in good demand, with No. 1 Northern 1/2c better. Oats was fair and barley steady.

EVANGELIST HAS INTERESTING HISTORY

Reared in Obscurity; Billy Sunday's Personality Won Him Fame

The life-story of Billy Sunday, the great evangelist and temperance reformer, is one of the most picturesque of the time.

His father was killed in the Civil War. The mother, penniless, was unable to care for her children, and "Billy" and his brother were sent to a Soldiers' Orphan's Home. Born in poverty, reared in obscurity, and apprenticed to hardship and labor, the power of his personality, nevertheless, soon became apparent. With this he possessed tremendous physical energy, and his great love for the masses soon gave him a great place in the world.

His forceful character early became apparent. A commendable determination to "play the game for all it was worth" brought him fame soon as a baseball player. As one of the best men in the White Sox team of Chicago he was the second man chosen from the United States to form a team to tour the world. His running and his baselining, his marvelous fielding and his tirelessness were dominant features of his play, and made him the Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson of his day. Every baseball fan even today can tell the history of Billy Sunday as a player, and a very great percentage have followed his career still further and can recite something of his successes as an evangelist.

It was when he was at the very zenith of his success that his conversion took place. He and some of his companions were coming out of a saloon at the corner of State and Madison streets, Chicago, when they ran into an evangelist meeting. Something in the music and the voices arrested Billy Sunday, reminding him of his old home and his mother. He began to listen. And when one of the speakers came over and asked him to accompany the little band of evangelists he turned to the baseball players with him and declared his intention of renouncing the old life to serve God.

"He refused a salary of $500 a month to embark on a campaign of evangelism with no assured salary whatever, or even a guaranteed livelihood," says a biographer of the great baseball evangelist.

"Since becoming an evangelist Mr. Sunday has conducted more campaigns, addressed the largest audiences, and has been the means of leading more men to Christ than any evangelist who has ever preached the Gospel. In one campaign in Pittsburgh last year 27,000 people professed conversion, and 129,000 people sought admission to his meetings in one day.

Knowing the evils of intemperance he is recognized as a world-power as a speaker on the subject of prohibition.

Seating increased.

In order that there may be no misapprehension as to the seating accommodation at the arena for the monster mass meeting to be addressed by Billy Sunday to-morrow night, the committee announces that four thousand additional chairs have been taken to the rink to supplement the regular seating arrangement, making provision altogether for between seven and eight thousand people. The spreading of a thick coat of sawdust on the floor has had the desired effect on the acoustics, making it possible for a person standing on the platform and speaking quite naturally to be heard in any part of the building. The platform and lighting system have been arranged according to the special requirements of Mr. Sunday, and the final touches are being given to the various details to-day.

The committee specially requests that everyone who is willing to assist in the singing will report at the side-entrance on Empress street, as they want to make up a choir to a thousand voices for the evening. A large body of ushers has been organized, and adequate arrangements are being made to avoid confusion and overcrowding.

Mrs. Sunday will accompany her husband on his visit here.

Was Injured in Game.

Charles L. Harris, secretary of the Island Automobile Association, recalls that over twenty years ago he was watching a baseball match in Chicago when Billy Sunday was playing for the home team in one of the big league matches. In sliding to second the baseball star broke his leg and was carried off the field by Billy Ryan, who was outfielder for the team. Those were the days when Sunday was at the pinnacle of his fame in the baseball world. He was laid up for some time, and the fortunes of the Chicago team were very much affected by the accident. Mr. Harris is leaving for Nanaimo this afternoon to sign up some new members for the Island Automobile Association and will not be able to hear Sunday speak here, but he expects to go from Nanaimo to Vancouver and will attend the big meeting in that city on Thursday.

RAFFLE DRAWING HELD YESTERDAY

Forty Prizes Given to Red Cross Superfluities Rooms Go to Ticket Holders

The drawing for the big Red Cross Superfluities raffle took place sharp at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the board room, Belmont building, a great many of the ticket-holders being present to witness the proceedings. There were only ten thousand tickets sold, at 10 cents each, bringing the proceeds of the raffle to $1,000. The corresponding numbers of each ticket sold were placed in a big churn, lent for the purpose, and Mr. Pearce and Mr. Fenton gave the utensil a few vigorous turns to stir up the contents. This operation took place in full view of the assembled spectators, the top of the churn was removed and forty tickets were removed by five small children discovered in the audience. Mr. Pearce reading out the numbers as each slip of paper was unfolded. Holders of the tickets corresponding with the numbers should apply at the Superfluities room, Belmont block, for their prizes.

There were present besides Mrs. Pearce, chairman of the ladies' committee, in charge of the Superfluities room, Belmont block, Mr. Fred Jones, president of the Victoria and District Red Cross Society, Mr. Angus, vice-president, and Mr. Williams, secretary-treasurer.

The tickets were drawn in the following order, and the list posted immediately by Mr. Goepel, who acted as clerk of the proceedings:

1	3,194	21	1,376
2	5,512	22	8,768

19	6,669	39	1,744
20	9,562	40	4,056

The raffle was opened a month ago yesterday, and the committee is so highly gratified with the results of the undertaking that they have decided to hold another of a similar character each month. A conservative estimate of the value of the articles given for the raffle was $1,000, and it is hoped that many new contributors of gifts of the kind will be found for the next event.

HEAT WAVE CAUSE OF DEATHS IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 8.—Although the humidity was lower, the city was plunged into another heat wave to-day, the mercury ascending in leaps long before noon. At 10 o'clock the weather bureau thermometer registered 82, as against 77 yesterday. The humidity was 80, compared with 59 at the same hour yesterday. That this probably would be the hottest day of the year was indicated by a rise of three degrees in the temperature between 9 and 10 a.m. There have been five deaths and nineteen prostrations during the last 24 hours. The forecast for the next immediate promise of relief.

NEWFOUNDLAND AND CANADA.

The Newfoundland ministry cannot settle the policy. It is dependent upon the voters. They, it is said, are much more inclined to favor the merger than they were twenty years ago. Memories of past strife with Ottawa have faded away. Where scars are left there is less bitter feeling than there used to be. Canada is not so much under suspicion of being pro-United States as she was then. Her record in the "great war" has convinced Newfoundlanders, as perhaps nothing else could have done, that the Canadian is loyal to London, and to all that city symbolizes in any plan for imperial federation and unification. St. John's wants the closest sort of relations with the financial centres of Montreal and Toronto, so that Newfoundland's resources may be developed. Thus it is that already the press of Canada and of the colony is busy debating a merger, in which Newfoundland would surrender its autonomy and become a province of a federated dominion.—Christian Science Monitor.

Erzincan, menaced by the Russians, stands in the middle of a large plain which is crossed a few miles farther south by the Kara Su, or Blackwater, as the Euphrates is here called. Before the war this was considered the cheapest city for provisions in Anatolia. A good sheep cost 6s; 80 eggs a shilling; two pounds of potatoes, about a penny. Fuel was dear in proportion to food, charcoal costing a farthing a pound. A patriarchal Italian doctor, who was the leading practitioner, used to say: "Erzincan is a fine place for poor people. A man can live like a lord here on 250 a year."—London Chronicle.

Germany Plotting to Entangle the Swedes

Mail and Empire, Toronto.

That German agents have been working night and day in Sweden to bring that country into alliance with the Teuton group has been clearly seen almost from the beginning of the war. At one time last summer it looked as if they might succeed. Relations between the allies and the Swedes were strained. Urged on by the Germans, a group of Swedish politicians campaigned for casting in the country's lot with "victorious" Germany, and against Russia. Fear of Russia has long been one of the chief motive forces of politics in Stockholm, and even now, with the Russian star in the ascendant again, their game is still played by the Russophobes. But the influence of Swedish Socialists, and the Liberal element have steadily been against any alliance with the reactionaries that govern Russia, against the would-be destroyers of the western democracies, and the people have been with them. Danger from Sweden is not now to be apprehended. The exposure of German designs to influence Swedish thought and action has created a revolution even in pro-German quarters. Recently a confidential report, officially prepared by a German agent was sensationally exposed in Stockholm.

Engineering a Propaganda.

After dealing with the most effective methods of swaying Swedish sentiment, the report which is addressed to "Your Excellency," says that a new propaganda should be cautiously foreign source.

The tactics should be on three main lines:

- First—Opposition to and guarantee against British power.
 - Second—Information concerning true conditions in Russia and the danger threatening Sweden from that quarter.
 - Third—The advantage of a close union with the central powers.
- "The so-called Activist group (interventionists) has lost considerably in influence lately," says the report. "There is no denying that in the last ten months sentiment has been growing against throwing Sweden into the horrors of the war without compelling cause." The Activists are declared to have been too impatient and sharp in their demands, and the impatient, unwise ones must be cast aside. "I believe that most of the Swedes who must decide the fate of their nation can be won over for union, with the Central Powers. It is a question now of gathering our friends, and many of those whose sympathies are with us, into a new party, which will stand between the Activists and the Pacifists, but which at the psychological moment will combine forces with the Activists to bring about the desired result. Into this group or party we must get men whose names and whose standing place them above suspicion. Our programme must avoid 'Jingoism' or 'being more Swedish than the Swedes.' The movement must appear to come from the broad mass of people.

Overcoming Entente Sympathy.

"The only thing lacking to put through a big plan in Sweden is initiative and the systematic work. One of the main things is a treatment of the questions between Sweden and England. We must convince Sweden that her position is going to be rendered more difficult by England. If a little money is spent, a whole lot can be accomplished by clever propaganda. We must adopt the policy of arranging lectures upon ostensibly cultural subjects in order to present the righteous cause and objects of the Central Powers in the proper light. The main cause of entente sympathy in Sweden are:

- "1. The publication in Germany of annexation of territory plans.
- "2. The supposed over-development of German militarism.
- "3. The violation of Belgian neutrality.
- "4. The U-boat war (Lustland).
- "5. The assertion of entente friends that Germany alone was preparing to bring about the war.

"6. The publication of articles asserting the danger of German imperialism, which would reduce Sweden to a vassal state."

The report refers to the good influence of the anonymous pro-German pamphlet "Sweden's Foreign Policy in the Light of the World War," and adds, "The German papers should be given strict instructions as to how they shall review the work in order that a proper reflexive effect may be had in Sweden. They must be told not to go too far, but shall gently hint that Sweden's standing apart is sincerely regretted in Germany, and that it cannot help but engender a slight coolness by the friendly German people."

Flush Fund Needed.

"Judging from the mood of Sweden the past ten months it easily is concluded that she does not wish to break either with England or with Germany. I am told that Sweden might more easily be carried along if Germany were in real danger and asked the brotherhood-in-arms of the Swedish people. But to arouse the people under existing circumstances systematic work is necessary. The political money spenders in Sweden exhausted their resources last year in the defence agitation, so I respectfully recommend that your excellency make an appropriation allowing what is necessary to make a proper beginning. The propaganda should not be confined solely to German interests, but should take advantage of the friendly feeling here toward Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey and deal with their relationship to Sweden. Therefore, I suggest that the government of these countries should be asked to share the expense. Briefly summarized the propaganda should be along these lines:

- "1. The establishment of a new political group, which, after a proper building up of public opinion, shall throw its influence toward a marked pro-German policy.
- "2. The publication of a pamphlet attacking the Swedish Socialist Democrats, cost 10,000 marks.
- "3. The establishment of a Russian news bureau in Stockholm, 20,000 marks.
- "4. The arrangement of lecture trips, 20,000 marks.
- "5. Publication of various pamphlets, 20,000 marks.
- "6. Popular edition of 'Sweden's Foreign Policy,' 12,000 marks.
- "7. German edition of the above, 4,000 marks.
- "8. Support of new weekly paper of Activists, 6,000 marks.
- "9. Establishment of a Swedish news bureau serving German papers, 15,000 marks."

WIDTH OF BRIDGE WILL BE REDUCED

Government Proposes Preliminary Work on Johnson Street Structure

LAUREL POINT CONNECTION ENDORSED

Aldermen Recognize That Another Crossing Will Be Necessary

It was announced in the city council last evening that the government has decided to reduce the width of the Johnson street bridge, since undertaking negotiations with the railway companies. Alderman Todd took the opportunity to bring the matter up when the letter from the premier was read, which has already been published.

The council felt that while an expression of appreciation to the government should be made, it would be unwise to limit the terms upon which negotiations should be conducted. Several of the aldermen expressed the opinion that the presence of the mayor on the executive council would result in the city's interests being watched, and the council's intentions with regard to the bridge known to members of the government.

Specific Information.

Alderman Todd said "The letter is all right so far as it goes. It touches, however, very indefinitely upon what is one of the most important matters we asked the government to take up, and that is the preparation or the bringing into agreement of the different parties who enter into the construction of this bridge. Of course I would not pretend to say what was the premier's point of view, or was in his mind—doubtless he fully understands the matter—but I should like you, Mr. Mayor, to point out that the most essential feature of the whole matter is satisfactory agreements, and that the council thinks it is the first thing that should be done."

"I notice in the newspaper interview accompanying the letter that it was suggested by the premier that very possibly it might be decided to make some reduction in the size of the bridge or something of that description, or at any rate to cheapen the cost. I think at the present time we should stand out for the Johnson street bridge on the lines that the council has projected, and has been working upon, so that point should be explained to the government. Personally at the present time I should be most unwilling to limit the capacity of the structure to carry the traffic that we anticipate that it will be required to carry in the course of a few years. We propose to provide for the heaviest kind of electric railway, highway, and also steam traffic, should the last named require it. It should be pointed out that any diminution of strength would not be welcomed by this council."

"Another matter is mentioned in the interview, and that is the suggestion apparently made that the government should start immediately on the abutments on the old reserve. That is a matter entirely for the government to decide. It would be regretted if the character of the bridge did not fit in with the final scheme, which would mean a serious loss to the government. The government should not place itself in a position when this position could be used as a moral lever upon the council and citizens to induce them to consent to something which they might not otherwise consent." He noticed that the premier had appointed the mayor to act, he concluded, and hoped the subject would be given careful attention.

The mayor: "The government intends to build a bridge that will be equal to carry all kinds of traffic. The intention is to reduce the width of the bridge. I have never been a strong favorite of the size that we proposed to build in 1912. We were thinking in millions of dollars then. There is another point also to consider. This will not be a railway bridge across the reserve. There is the Point Ellice bridge, which will doubtless have to be rebuilt within ten years, and a bridge at Laurel Point. Whatever happens the reduction in the cost of the Johnson street bridge, from the figure of $417,000 will benefit the city."

Alderman Todd: "We have got it down a great deal from that figure, your worship, probably $200,000 to $250,000."

The mayor: "You will not get a bridge of the character the government intends to build for that price. I do not think the city stands to lose by the change in any way. It will be provided to bear all the traffic. There must be other bridges, one for the connection to the outer wharves, as I have said, which must be provided for the transportation of freight—the railway cars cannot come through the streets of Victoria, and the Laurel Point bridge will thus be an issue of the near future. When the war ends we should be ready to go on with business—to take up any kind of activity as it comes along."

Alderman Todd: "Whatever course is taken by the government, I think the council should be informed about it at the outset. We have already considerable traffic rights on the present bridge, and any change should be in the nature of an improvement of the city's position. We should not jeopardize the bridge strength by a change of plans."

The mayor: "The strength of the bridge will not be reduced, but the weight."

Alderman's Opinion.

Alderman Fullerton said provision had been made in the estimates of the provincial government for work on the reserve; and probably what the premier had referred to in the interview was that preliminary expenditure. The council, however, must see that the bridge would be strong enough to carry the traffic for years to come.

Alderman Cameron: "As I understand it, before the work could proceed, the council was to have an opportunity to look at the plans. Unless we did, there would probably be misunderstanding of the question of the city's contribution towards the cost when that is taken up for settlement." The alderman endorsed what had been said with regard to the Laurel Point bridge, as very necessary. "After the aldermen completed it will be absolutely necessary," he observed.

Alderman Cameron said the council should express its appreciation, and in view of the double relation of the mayor to the city and government, he was satisfied their interests would be safeguarded.

Alderman Dilworth urged that the harbor committee should press the work along and aid the government in view of the double relation of the mayor to the city and government, he was satisfied their interests would be safeguarded.

Alderman Johnson was quite satisfied that before definite action was taken the opinion of the council would be secured.

THE IRISH CRISIS AND THE WAR.

After all, the essential fact just now, the fact that must never be allowed to fall into the background, is not only that we are at war, but that we have reached the very crisis of the war. If we make a false step at this moment, or if we fail in maintaining a concentration of energy at the centre of government, we may easily throw away all that we have gained of late. The Unionist leaders must remember that if we make an unsuccessful experiment in Irish politics, the results, though mischievous in a high degree, can be put right. If we make a blunder in the war, we may be lost for ever. If we go over the edge on the Irish side, we shall merely fall into a muddy ditch. We may conceivably be drowned there, but it is not certain death like the fall over the precipice. What then, the Unionist leaders and the Unionist party at their backs must first of all consider—is the necessity of getting back to the vagaries of the war with the utmost determination and concentration of mind. It is no use for people to say that this is now a matter in the hands of the soldiers, and can be safely left to them. To say: "They will pull us through, no matter how the politicians may be scuffling and shrieking at Westminster" is madness. The action of the soldiers will be paralyzed if they are not able to feel that the government upon whom they depend are giving their whole and undivided attention to the prosecutions of the war.—The Spectator.

DECLINES TO PAY PART OF JUDGMENT

City Council Will Not Assist Dairy Inspector; Sawdust Nuisance

"If we have no legal standing, we have a moral responsibility," said Alderman Peden in the city council last evening, when the aldermen finally disposed of the application of the Saanich council for part payment of the judgment in the McCann case.

He opposed the council treating inspectors "Hoves" with "what Hazlett would have called the 'official' and not the 'moral' sense," in that the city had benefited by his action, and yet he was made to suffer because legal formalities had not been respected by Saanich before the Hindu-burns-on-Maplewood road were burnt.

The mayor observed that Saanich should pay all the damages.

However, the aldermen declined to make any payment on the matter.

On the question of the Rock Bay bridge, McPherson & Fullerton Brothers wrote again to the council, appealing to have the work proceeded with so that the depreciation of property in the vicinity may not continue.

On Alderman John's suggestion it was agreed before proceeding with the smoke nuisance by-law, whose object is to abate the nuisance from the distribution of charred sawdust showers in the northwestern section of the city, to invite the mill owners to meet the aldermen on Friday afternoon next.

An unusual statement was made in council when it was reported that Col. Prior had given land for an easement for the Finlayson street branch of the northwest sewer, and in thanking him the hope was expressed that other owners would do likewise.

Applications for second hand store and junk licenses were received from 13 persons, and referred to the chief of police for a report.

In the monthly report of the fair weights and measures officer, Mr. Robertson says that he has weighed the average amount of bread, butter and other commodities in the various stores of the city, and has found everything well up to the standard weights. All bread comes up to the weight indicated on the labels attached to the loaves. Other work done during the month includes: Measuring 19 saw loads of slabs, two carloads of cordwood, weighing 24 wagon and motor truck loads of coal and coke, and stamping 20 carts and wagons for the delivery of stove wood.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS ASSESSMENT POLICY

Legislative Committee is Asked to Report on Alderman Walker's Proposal

Alderman Cameron made a very interesting statement on the assessment question, in speaking in the city council last evening on a motion of Alderman Walker to consider the graduated scale of assessment on a radical basis.

In seconding the motion, he said he did so without declaring any personal preference. "It requires a great deal of consideration," he observed, "and is a very large question in every municipality, when they all have the problem of securing a fair valuation of their real property. While I doubt whether the present is a good time for the council to interfere with the assessment, still we should endeavor to find a better system, and lay the facts before the assessor."

Having explained how the recent legislation on the matter had been expected to provide a remedy, which however had not worked out altogether well in experience, Alderman Cameron said that after sitting 18 days on the court of revision he had come to the conclusion that the real property assessment might be improved, without reference on any one at all. In some cities a board of assessors sit with the assessors to determine valuations. Such had been the case in Victoria in past years. Alderman Walker's motion, said the speaker, was not very definite, but it did seem to suggest the appointment of a committee to look into the matter.

"There is in the United States," he concluded, "a system which is gaining ground, which might be considered, and that is not an assessing but an equalizing system, in which a unit is established for each block and other properties worked out from that basis."

Alderman Walker himself, in moving the motion to which Alderman Cameron had spoken, had illustrated what would happen in various sections of the city if a graduated system were to be approved, based on distance from the centre of the city.

Alderman Fullerton said that while the powers of the council were limited with regard to assessment, still some value might come from the suggestion, and recommended that the matter should be sent on to the legislative committee.

This course was adopted, Alderman Walker and Cameron being added to the committee for the purpose of discussing this phase of the question.

Alderman Todd's motion to have the roll for 1917 returned by January 19 was approved.

"Your son is a product of the university, I take it," said the polite visitor. "A sort of by-product," replied Mr. Selphamide. "He was fired out of three of them."
